BUBBLY AND BLISS—Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Hayden sip champagne after their wedding yesterday in Sausalito. Today they are on a honeymoon, and they didn't say where they were going. After that, they'll be back in Hayden's Belvedere home for house-keeping. (Independent-Journal photo)

FORTUNE: 'SEEK HAPPINESS'

Hayden, Socialite Wed, Start On Honeymoon

Sterling Hayden, actor, adventurer and seaman, now semi-settled in Belvedere, and Mrs. Catherine Devine McConnell, New York socialite, were married in an afternoon ceremony yesterday in a posh beach cottage in Sausalito. A few hours later they went to Hayden's hilltop home and then left for a few days' honeymoon, destination unannounced.

It was a busy afternoon. The couple bought wedding rings in San Francisco, then greeted friends at contractor William A. Pomeroy's house. After the ceremony, performed by Richard M. Sims at the specific request of Hayden, they sipped champagne, kissed and crumbled Chinese fortune cookies.

The message inside Hayden's fortune cookie read, "Seek happiness for its own sake, and you will find it."

Something borrowed, something blue, something old, something new was worn by the bride.

She wore a blue satin, lace-trimmed garter that was loaned by her matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Schweitzer of Baltimore. It was a new garter.

"And my dress is old, I bought it last year," she told guests. But she added quickly to the actor, "But Sterling, it's the first time I've ever worn it."

Hayden wore something old, too: A striped gray business suit with a vest. He described it as "the only suit I've got."

Sims said: "All the world loves lovers. I know you are two mature people who, very much in love. So I won't give you a lecture." He then began the ceremony, but Mrs. McConnell trembled nervously and gave the ring to Hayden.

Thief Gets $400 At Service Station

Safe burglars pried the door of an Alto service station this morning and stole $400 in cash from the floor safe, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputy Sheriff H. E. Morgan said the front door of the Richmond station on the Alto strip had been jimmied open, papers were strewn over the floor, and drawers ajar. The floor safe was open, with the lid sitting beside it. The key was still in the lid.

Harold McNerny of the Viera Patrol spotted the break-in about 2 a.m. today and called the sheriff.

Operator of the station is Harry Elting Fitzgibbon of 32 Thomas drive, Mill Valley. The station had been closed up shortly after midnight.

Marin Marine Safe As Jet Plane Crashes

Mrs. Henry B. Lecy of 550 Miller avenue, Mill Valley, rejoiced today that she and her husband are "the luckiest of parents."

The Lecys received word last night that their son, Marine Lt. Henry E. Lecy, together with another crewman, walked away from their burning jet fighter plane after it crashed in the desert in New Mexico.

Twenty-one-year-old Lecy telephoned his mother that one of the engines of the plane conked out. The lieutenant said he was forced to put down in the desert instead of flying to Holloman Air Force Base two miles away.

"As we walked away," Lieutenant Lecy told his mother, "the plane burned up."

Lecy and his crewman, M/Sgt. Donald L. Lake of Anaheim, were taken to the base hospital but were found to have suffered no injury.

Lecy was graduated from Tamalpais High School in 1957 and joined the Navy the same year. In 1959 he transferred to the Marine Corps and since last December has been stationed at El Toro Marine Air Station. Lecy and Lake were in New Mexico on training exercises.

They were flying an F3D jet plane.

Barbara Graham's Confession Of Murder Revealed

The night before she was executed in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber on June 3, 1955, Barbara Graham confessed the pistol-whipping murder of Mrs. Mable Monahan, according to statements made today by two Marin County officials.

Both Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich and Associate Warden Louis S. Nelson of San Quentin said the account of the confession was related to them by the late Warden Harley O. Teets.

Weissich, just back from a Sacramento debate on the abolition of capital punishment this afternoon, said he had not revealed what Warden Teets told him about the confession "because I felt Warden Teets had made the statements in confidence."

MADE PUBLIC

However, since the Barbara Graham confession was made public by Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy of Los Angeles County at a Legislative hearing last night, Weissich said he feels under no further restraint from making public the information.

This is how Weissich heard about the confession, he said:

On Aug. 30, 1957, two days before Warden Teets' death, the warden and Weissich drove to San Francisco to meet the attorney general's representatives to discuss whether Caryl Chessman could be permitted to use a typewriter on Death Row.

On the way back to Marin, Warden Teets expressed a wish that he could exercise some discretion in such matters and then related to Weissich some of the burdens of the warden's job.

"TERRIBLE BURDEN" Teets told Weissich of the "terrible burden" of having to keep to himself Barbara Graham's confession of pistol-whipping Mrs. Monahan, wealthy Los Angeles widow.

Weissich said he asked Teets why the confession was not made public. The warden replied he felt that his duty was to execute court orders but not to become involved in any questions concerning the innocence or guilt of condemned inmates.

Weissich returned to his office and told his chief assistant, Roger P. Garety, about Teets' conversation. Garety recalls the incident.

Senate Vote Beats Anti-Filibuster Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today rejected a move to limit debate and thus crush the Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation.

The vote was 42 for limiting debate and 53 against.

Backers of a motion to put a time limit on the marathon debate, now in its fourth week, needed a two-thirds majority to put over cloture—the Senate name for a restriction on debate.

from Warden Teets, Weissich said he feels it is unfortunate that there should be any inferences that Barbara Graham might have been innocent of the crime for which she was executed.

The possibility of her innocence was suggested in a re-

Six Marinites File For Political Posts

Six candidates have jumped into the political race in Marin County by filing nomination papers with County Clerk George S. Jones.

First to file was Judge Leonard A. Thomas, who seeks reelection to his post in Department 3 of Marin Municipal Court. Judge Thomas will run unopposed because no opponent has filed a declaration of intent to seek the judgeship. Such declaration must have been filed by last Friday by candidates for judgeships.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, a Republican, will face opposition from a Democratic hopeful, Charles Mabry Geller of San Anselmo. Geller is an electrician living at 99 Redwood road.

Supervisor William D. Fuselman's post is sought by Harvey W. Killian, an insurance broker living at 374 Via Hidalgo, Greenbrae.

Supervisor James A. Marshall of West Marin filed yesterday and is still unopposed. A possible opponent mentioned thus far is County Fire Chief Charles Reilly of Ft. Reyes, who has not committed himself.

Others who have filed are incumbent Congressman Clement W. Miller and attorney Joseph G. Wilson of San Rafael, a Democrat, who seeks the post of state Assemblyman. April 1 is the last day to file for the June primary election.

Geller, who wants the state senate seat now held by Mc-Carthy, has been secretary of the Building Trades Council since 1943. He has served on the executive board as vice president and president of the Marin County Labor Council. He was an active member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and its business representative in 1948-49.

Geller served on the Marin County Postwar Planning Committee, Richmond-San Rafael Bridge Committee, original Bay Area Rapid Transit Committee, and Citizens Building Code Committee. He was director of the American Cancer Society and a director and president of the Marin Chapter of the Heart Assn. He is also associated with the Marin Mineral Society.

After high school, he took correspondence training in engineering and technical subjects, and attended adult classes at College of Marin. He joined the World Politics Discussion Groups sponsored by University of California Extension Program. He has conducted many of these discussion groups as group leader.

Brown Says He Can't Save Convict-Author

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO—California lawmakers killed a proposal to abolish capital punishment today and Gov. Edmund G. Brown said he was now "absolutely powerless" to interfere with Caryl Chessman's May 2 execution.

The Senate's Judiciary Committee voted 8-7 to keep the bill from the Senate floor, after a marathon 12½-hour hearing. Opponents of the gas chamber said this meant the bill was dead in the special session of the Legislature.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan, committee chairman, had said before the hearing he expected the Senate to adjourn the special session on capital punishment the day after committee action on the bill if it was defeated. He indicated adjournment was expected today.

Introduction of a similar bill in the Assembly was not planned and no further legislative action was expected on the death penalty before Chessman's scheduled execution.

Brown had granted Chessman a 60-day reprieve on Feb. 19, just 10 hours before he was to have been executed after 11 years on San Quentin Prison Death Row. He ordered the delay so the Legislature could act once and for all to outlaw the death penalty and because of word he had received from the State Department that the government of Uruguay was concerned over possible student demonstrations during President Eisenhower's visit.

In his statement today, Brown said:

"I have heard it said, and I have read in the newspapers, that this action of the Legislature leaves the fate of Caryl Chessman in my hands. This is not true.

"I continue to have the general power of clemency. But because Chessman has been convicted of other felonies, I could exercise clemency as distinguished from a brief reprieve only on the affirmative recommendation of the state Supreme Court.

"The court has twice refused such a recommendation. The reasons for the reprieve I granted last month no longer exist constitutionally. I am therefore absolutely powerless to act in that (Chessman) case."

The California Constitution says a majority of the high court must recommend commutation before the governor can act on cases of persons convicted of a prior felony—such as Chessman.

Brown said that with adjournment of the special session of the Legislature today as expected, the regular scheduled HEARING, page 6

You'd Pay 18 Cents Yearly To Fluoridate

Fluoridation of Marin Municipal Water District water would initially cost 18.6 cents per consumer annually, the district board was told last night by William R. Seeger, general manager.

By 1970, Seeger added, this cost should drop to 12 cents.

The figures represent costs of $3.23 and $2.30 per million gallons on a basis of an estimated 1970 population of 177,000 persons using 9.3 billion gallons of water a year. Total yearly cost was estimated at $21,578.77.

Seeger's estimates, based on a report prepared by H. George Wehrheim, purification engineer, and given to the board in booklet form, omit about 9,000 of the district's present 125,000 consumers because of major changes being made in the distribution system.

"But by the time we could start fluoridation, probably late next year, everybody would receive treated water," said Seeger.

A proposal for fluoridation of the district's water will be on the June 7 primary ballot.

If the measure carries, Seeger said a "consumer's suit" will be brought in court to protect the district in use of revenue money for fluoridation. This action has been advised by the district's attorney.

If the district's legal position is bolstered by court action (expected to require six or eight months) another six months will be needed to install equipment and get fluoridation under way.

Omitted from present consideration are the San Geronimo Valley system and the Mill

2 Challenge Brown In Contest For State Delegation

SACRAMENTO (P)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, supposedly secure in his favorite son role, wound up today with two potential challengers in California's Democratic presidential primary.

Neither was of national caliber, however.

One was George McLain, Los Angeles pension promoter. McLain, 58, charged Brown has failed the old folks. The governor denied it.

The other was retired Army Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, long a tempestuous but never important figure on the fringes of California politics.

For a few hours last night, Brown had four potential rivals for the state's 81 votes at the Democratic national convention.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota quickly repudiated filings by a self-started state committee. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts followed with a similar wire.

Both had declared previously they were going to stay out of the California primary, in deference to Brown and party harmony, unless one of them violated this non-aggression pact.

The actions developed suddenly on the final day for submitting credentials to the secretary of state's office for organizing committees for delegate states.

There were no surprises on the Republican ticket. Vice President Nixon was left unopposed for his home state's 70 GOP votes.

Presidential candidates can control their entry into California's primary because state law requires their formal assent.

Brown said he was not concerned over the Democratic filings.

He characterized the committee filings for Kennedy and Humphrey as "purely precautionary."

Humphrey, in his telegram, said that "on condition that Sen. Kennedy does the same with his committee, I hereby repudiate the committee filing my name in the California presidential primary and will not consent to the entry of my name."

Kennedy informed Democratic state chairman William A. Munnell that the action by Californians for Kennedy was taken without his knowledge and authorization. He said:

"There has been no change in my position as indicated in my statement last week. I have no intention of entering the California primary."

As for McLain, Brown said he was more concerned about his statement that the state administration has disappointed elderly voters.

The governor and the pension promoter have been at odds over McLain's demands for a special session of the Legislature to revise the state's relatives responsibility law.

Brown said he favored a change and would recommend it to the 1961 session—but not to the current Legislature.

"I cannot open this brief special session to such a complex and controversial subject," he said, "and I will not yield to pressure."

The governor, replying to McLain's criticism, said his administration last year boosted basic aid for needy aged from $90 to $95 a month; from $106 to $115 for special cases; from $116 to $125 with medical allowances.

Storm Pounds Wide Area In Eastern U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of winter's most crippling snowstorms which battered the Midwest and Southern areas into Virginia pounded wide parts in the East today.

The late winter storm lost none of its power as it continued to dump snow and sleet from the Georgia coast northward through the Carolinas across Virginia into Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Heavy snow fell from northern North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia during the night. Sleet, freezing rain and rain in southern North Carolina threatened to spread northward over mid-Atlantic coastal areas.

Meanwhile, a new storm which developed in the central Rockies extended southward across the western Dakotas.

The early March storm, with spring only 11 days away, left scores of towns isolated. Hundreds of travelers were stranded as bus and plane service was disrupted or canceled. Hundreds of schools, stores and factories were closed.

There were at least a score of storm-related deaths, including seven in Illinois, two each in Tennessee, Missouri, Nebraska, Georgia and Kentucky and one each in Indiana, Iowa and Idaho.

Mercy Ship Project

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Conversion of the mothballed Navy hospital ship Consolation into a floating medical center for health service in Southeast Asia and elsewhere is finally about to get under way.

"Project Hope" will cost about two million dollars for modification of the white-hulled, 15,000-ton vessel, and the first year of operation in Asian waters will run about three and one-half million dollars more.

The Consolation, laid up in San Francisco Bay Naval Yards since her return from 20 months of war service during the Korean conflict, will be renamed the Hope—taken from the initials of the project's concept of "Health Opportunity for People Everywhere."

Motherwell admitted that he lied about many points of his relationship with Mrs. Pearl Putney—but said many of the lies were told to protect her.

Burro Business

STRANG, Neb. (P)—This southeast Nebraska community has a population of 100 humans and 39 Mexican burros.

The animals belong to Lowell Messman, who bought a pair of burros for his sons four years ago and was amazed at the interest aroused when the pair produced a colt.

"It got me to thinking about raising burros to sell," he explains, with the result that what started out as a sort of hobby has become what Messman describes as an "unprofitable but highly interesting little business."

CHANGES IN U.S. SUGAR LAW LOOM

Administration Denies That Revisions Would Be Used As Weapon Against Cuba

WASHINGTON (P)—Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) said today the administration apparently plans to ask for a new sugar law which he said could be a "weapon of reprisal" against Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Administration sources confirmed that some changes which Cooley opposes are included in a bill they intend to submit next week to the House Agriculture Committee, which Cooley heads.

But they denied the administration measure is designed as a club against Cuba, which reaps a 150 million dollar year bonus under present law. They said their bill is based on agricultural reasons, and would not hurt Cuba.

Sugar legislation is an especially hot issue this year because of Castro's attacks on the United States and seizure of American-owned property in Cuba. Some Congressmen see the sugar bill as a golden chance to hit back at Castro. President Eisenhower has declared against retaliation.

Cooley spoke to a newsman after conferring late yesterday with Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse and other officials on administration plans.

Cooley said Eisenhower's recent Latin-American trip apparently has made no change in earlier administration plans to seek a four-year extension of the sugar quotas which Cooley termed unfavorable to Cuba, and executive branch power to cut foreign quotas further. "That's their proposal," Cooley said. "But I don't think they should even submit the proposal." He added that since the President said "he didn't want any reprisals, he shouldn't ask for the weapons of reprisal."

Cooley said the mere proposal by the administration of such a plan would set off wide anti-American feeling in Latin America.

Three Schwartzes To Open New Shop

There'll be a Schwartz store on San Rafael's Fourth street again next month.

When Schwartz Brothers Store for Men closed its doors at 909 Fourth street last November, the name "Schwartz" disappeared from San Rafael store fronts for the first time since the Schwartz Department Store was founded in the 1920s.

But about April 10, the name will be back—six doors away, in the building formerly occupied by Royce Department Store.

This time, it will be Schwartz,

Off It Comes

LINDEN, N. J. (P)—You know how hair is. Like Topsy it just grows and grows.

With Felicia Jo Deraska it grew for 12 years—the length of time she's been around—untouched by barber's snippers.

She got a haircut recently. The whole family showed up to watch it.

After it was over, Felicia exclaimed: "It's wonderful!"

Says her mother: "The haircut has changed her whole personality."

Inc., with a nephew, Sidney Schwartz, as the third member of the firm with brothers Carl and Aaron Schwartz, who formerly operated the men's store.

The building, which belongs to the Schwartz family, will get a new front and thorough refurbishment inside before the opening, according to Sidney Schwartz. And it will open with men's wear on the first floor and young men's wear on the second floor—the only store in Marin devoted exclusively to these two fields, according to the new member of the firm.

Carl Schwartz heads the new corporation as president. Aaron Schwartz is vice president, and Sidney, secretary-treasurer. All three will be active in operation of the new store.

Sidney, his wife and three children reside in San Rafael's Loch Lomond. He formerly was with Bruce Bary men's store in Stonestown for four years.

"I guess my uncles just got too much rest since closing their store," chuckled the firm's youngest member.

So Schwartz will be back—almost at the same old stand, but with a bigger store and a wider field.

... AND NOW FOR A FEW UNKIND WORDS ON HST

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (P)—Republican Gov. George D. Clyde of Utah was invited to be the principal speaker at the annual Truman Day dinner in Seattle on May 9.

He accepted with delight, saying this must mean the Washington state Democrats and former President Harry S. Truman "have seen the political light."

But in Seattle, Democratic State Rep. Jon Marvin Jonsson, who extended the invitation to Clyde in a letter, said apparently his secretary sent the invitation through "an unaccountable error."

Jonsson said Clyde could "attend the dinner and be enlightened," but no speech.

Novato Kiwanis Will Aid In Cleanup Drive

The Novato Kiwanis Club has to cooperate in the city's first cleanup, paint-up and fix-up campaign, being sponsored in April by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

A special kit of materials and suggestions for activity will be available, it was reported. F. James Picchi is general chairman of the cleanup campaign.

Fourth College Master Plan Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (P)—The Legislature now has four bills competing to set up a "master plan" for higher education.

The latest was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman Sheridan N. Hegland (D-La Mesa) in the form of a compromise. It seeks to create a separate board to direct state colleges but without the coordinating council called for in the original plan.

Hegland's bill avoids the controversy over outlining functions of the state colleges, University of California and junior colleges.

The first "master plan" introduced was drafted by a U.C. state college committee.

One by Assemblyman Bruce Allen (R-Los Gatos) calls for a separate state college system under statute rather than a constitutional amendment to hold budget control in the Legislature.

Sen. George Miller Jr. (D-Martinez) proposed a similar bill yesterday.

CASHIER CALLED DUPE

Defense Opens Case In Hendrickson Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The defense opened its case today in the trial of a San Rafael manufacturer charged with the misapplication of $3,714,610 from a Long Beach bank.

The prosecution closed its case yesterday by claiming that cashier George A. Hewlett, who committed suicide when he learned there was to be a bank audit, was merely a dupe for the manufacturer, John R. Hendrickson, 40.

Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent J. Clayton Taylor testified that Hewlett got only about $1,451 of the money embezzled from the East Long Beach branch of the U.S. National Bank of San Diego.

Hewlett left a suicide note confessing the misapplication and implicating Hendrickson.

Taylor identified cashier's checks signed by Hewlett and said they matched sums cashed in personal checks bearing Hendrickson's signature.

He said Hendrickson would give Hewlett a personal check which Hewlett would never post. The cashier would sign cashier's checks for the amount of Hendrickson's personal checks and would make a false debit entry to cover the withdrawal.

Taylor said in one case, Hendrickson cashed a $10,700 personal check when his bank balance was only $5.

More than 900 exhibits were introduced by the government. The case is being tried by a jury of seven men and five women in the courtroom of Federal Judge Alexander Hicks.

Hendrickson was indicted on 26 counts charging him with participating in the embezzlement of funds from the bank, then known as the Long Beach National Bank.

Woman Faces Another Trial On Drunk Driving Charge

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Torre of Kentfield, 38-year-old doctor's wife, will be prosecuted again for drunken driving.

Mrs. Torre was convicted last year by a jury of driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 near Corte Madera on Jan. 9, 1959. Her attorney, Leslie Gillen, appealed the decision. The appellate department of Marin Superior Court reversed the decision last month on grounds that prejudicial error had crept into the trial.

Yesterday, attorney Gillen appeared before Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court and asked the court to dismiss the case because Mrs. Torre had been punished enough by the trial and long appeal.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, who got the conviction in the first trial, opposed the motion to dismiss. The judge re-set the case for trial May 10 through 12.

Mrs. Torre, wife of Dr. Emile D. Torre, has two prior drunken driving convictions. Another conviction would mean a mandatory jail term. She was convicted in 1955 in Monterey and in 1956 in Marin.

New Problem

SPRING GROVE, Va. (P)—Retired after 43 years as a rural mail route carrier, J. F. Huber faces a new problem. For the first time in his life he must put up a mail box at the entrance to his home.

Sane Nuclear Unit Asking For Funds

In an effort to call attention to the forthcoming disarmament talks at the Summit Conference the Marin Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy is circulating a letter throughout the county asking for money to help pay for advertising.

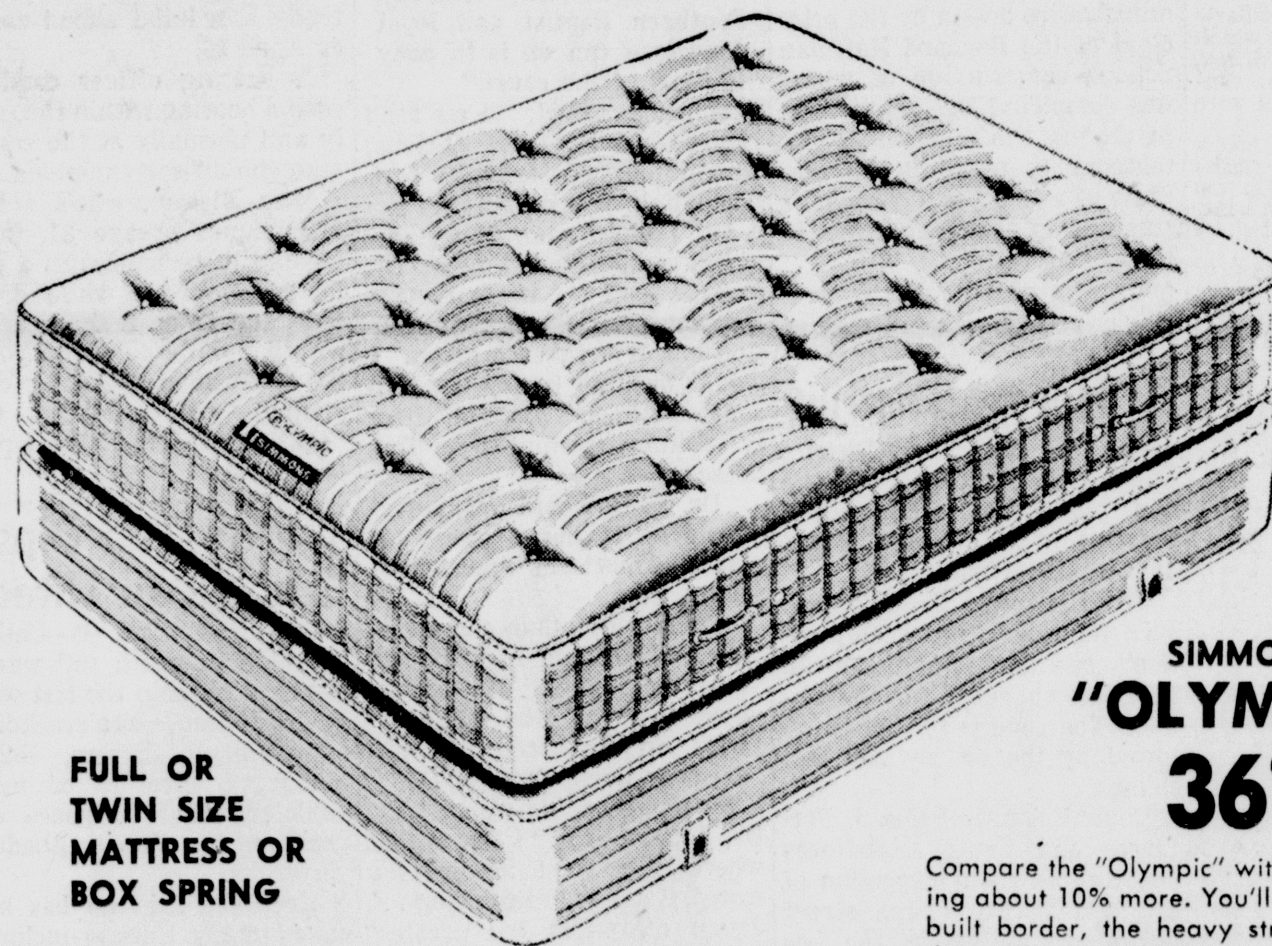

The letter states: "Our candidates and fellow citizens must not be allowed to ignore what may well be the most critical issue of our day."

The letter, signed by chairman Philip Drath, closes asking the reader to fill out the enclosed reply form to be returned with a contribution.

Radio Speaker Blasts Fluoridation Of Water

The plan to fluoridate water "is one of the biggest pieces of skulduggery ever put over on the American people."

So said J. A. Campbell today, in a whirlwind speaking tour in Marin, blasting the proposal to fluoridate the Marin Municipal Water District water supply.

Campbell, an industrialist, inventor and mechanical engineer with a degree from Yale University, was interviewed by Kitty Oppenheimer over radio station KTIM. At noon he spoke to the Mill Valley Optimist Club.

He is scheduled to speak

Several Contracts Let By Directors Of Water District

Several contracts, aggregating more than $350,000, were awarded last night by the Marin Municipal Water District board.

Largest went to Consolidated Western Steel of San Francisco, low bidder at $297,820 for two two-million-gallon steel tanks for a North Marin balancing reservoir to be put up on the Smith ranch near White's Hill.

A low bid of $43,410 by John McCosker Co. of Berkeley won the contract for 2,960 feet of 21 inch pipe for a Terra Linda-Los Ranchitos line.

Mill Valley and the water district will each pay half the cost, estimated at $9,066, for replacement of 1,450 feet of two-inch pipe with six-inch pipe on Montford avenue between Ethel lane and Melrose avenue.

again at 8 o'clock tonight at Olney Hall, College of Marin, under sponsorship of the Marin Pure Water Committee, Inc.

"They want to put rat poison in the water," he said. "It's that pure and simple. And it's more simple than pure."

He said the rat poison "is sodium fluoride, a deadly cumulative poison."

"What is their motive? Money. The high profits from a substance formerly sold as rat poison at one-and-a-half cents a pound, and as human poison at 15 cents a pound."

"The talk of supplementing natural calcium fluoride with sodium fluoride would be about the same as supplementing whisky with sulphuric acid or sugar with arsenic."

"The air we breathe is becoming more and more poisoned from the exhaust fumes of automobiles. The foods we eat are more and more poisoned with preservatives and sprays."

"The only method we have of diluting the poisons and getting them out of our systems is by drinking plenty of pure, unadulterated water. For goodness sake, don't let them poison that!"

Owner Finds Camera He Feared Stolen

A $500 movie camera, reported missing from a home in Strawberry last Sunday, has been found, the owner reported to the sheriff's office.

Morris Leo Portugal of 108 Belvedere drive said he came across the camera while unpacking some of his belongings. He had feared the camera was stolen by an intruder, who entered his home and scattered clothing in the back patio.

Seminary Pledged To Combating Evil

Dr. Ramsey Pollard, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, pledged the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary to the "continuing battle against evil" in his dedicatory sermon today.

Actual dedication of the seminary at Strawberry Point came during a morning program which climaxed three days of dedicatory services. The act of dedication was led by Dr. Harold K. Graves, seminary president.

"These buildings are monuments to our faith in God," said Dr. Pollard. "These walls mean that man must be taught about God. Every generation must be taught."

"There is a continuing battle against evil. The Bible is our textbook, and our preacher must know this book." In an hour-long press conference yesterday, Dr. Pollard predicted the seminary in its new location in Marin County will grow to become "a mighty force throughout the United States."

Though he described himself as "the servant of 9,400,000 Baptists who have 31,000 churches in the Southern Baptist Convention and 38 churches outside of the U. S., he was introduced to reporters as "a man without a church."

Dr. Graves introduced Dr. Pollard, saying he was a man without a church for the moment since he has finished 21 years as pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church in Knoxville, Tenn., and will not take up duties at his new assignment at Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis until Easter.

He returned recently from a world tour and spent much of his visit in the Orient. Asked if the Southern Baptist Convention was doing anything to equalize civil rights, Dr. Pollard replied: "The Southern Baptist Convention has no authority over any local congregations. In 1954, the convention passed a resolution commending the Supreme Court on its desegregation decision."

"The convention cannot pass down an edict on how to handle the decision. That cannot be done. The churches tell the convention what to do and not the reverse."

"I think the only thing any Southern Baptist and loyal American can do is to obey the law of the country."

Someone asked, "If we send Negroes to the next national convention, will they be seated? Would you support it?" Dr. Pollard said, "I would."

On capital punishment, Dr. Pollard said, "I don't believe the Southern Baptist Convention has ever taken a stand. I would hesitate to say my personal feelings." He said there is capital punishment in Tennessee.

Dr. Pollard said the liquor business is doing more to harm Americans than anything else.

"It is worse than communism. It is an illegitimate business . . . destroying homes. It is the black stain on American life today," he declared.

Speaking of his world tour, Dr. Pollard said, "I found that wherever I went around the world, Baptists are growing . . . Japan offers us the greatest opportunity . . . what Japan does will have effect on all that part of the world, all of Asia."

Fire Code Adopted By Novato District

The Novato Fire District board last night adopted the fire prevention code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Chief George J. Cavallero said the code was a "good practice" one and would "make no great changes" for the district. The code is the same followed by the county and San Rafael.

Commissioners Peter J. Ferrarese and Louis J. Saffores reported on their inspection of the Phonalarm Corp. street box alarm system in the Los Angeles area. This type of system uses telephones in street boxes.

Rattled Driver Hurt In Mishap

Manuel John Trapani, 64, of Sonoma, was driving east on Highway 37 just on the Marin side of the Sonoma County line Tuesday afternoon when some oil cans clattered off the car seat to the floor.

Trapani was as rattled as the cans and tromped hard on what he thought was the brake. Turned out to be the foot-throttle. The Trapani car wound up against a dirt bank and Trapani wound up having cuts and bruises attended to by his family doctor, he told the California Highway Patrol.

AILING HERTER CANCELS HIS APPOINTMENTS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter suffered a "digestive upset" today and canceled all his appointments.

A spokesman at the White House issued this statement: "Secretary Herter is out today with a digestive upset and the effects of a cold, and has canceled his appointments for today."

He held a news conference yesterday and had appeared to newsmen to be in good health.

The State Department said Herter was not under a doctor's care. It said Herter figures he has "a bug."

"Digestive upset" was the term used by the White House in the first announcement of what was subsequently revealed to be President Eisenhower's heart attack on Sept. 24, 1955).

State Out To Get Juanita's Beer License

Juanita Musson, the free-swinging proprietress of Juanita's Galley on the Sausalito waterfront, must face charges of unfitness to hold a beer license, but just when and where is up to Sacramento officials.

"Probably it will be some little time," said a spokesman for the state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control in San Francisco, which filed charges based on Miss Musson's six convictions of law violation involving drunkenness, between October of 1957 and last December.

He said such cases are already scheduled ahead as far as April 28.

A hearing officer conducts such a hearing within the county and normally at the county seat, the officer explained.

Miss Musson, who's a trim 225 pounds at age 34, thrice created disturbances in a public place, drove while drunk once and twice resisted arrest within a trifle over two years, the spokesman noted. He commented with restraint that "she's been in the papers pretty often."

Traffic Toll Dips; Crackdown Cited

LOS ANGELES (AP)—California's traffic death toll was 10 per cent lower in the last seven months because of a crackdown on drunken drivers, Robert McCarthy, director of motor vehicles, told 400 peace officers at the Police Academy yesterday.

McCarthy said he has been called many things—including a prohibitionist—since the drive started but: "All I want to do is get the drunk driver off the highway."

Wife Holds Home, Kids Despite Order Of Court

Mrs. Maria Novak, 38-year-old wife of Novato developer John E. Novak, was still firmly entrenched in her plush mansion today with all three of her children, despite a Tuesday court order to give up her two sons and the Trumbull mansion.

Her attorney, Berwyn M. Rice, filed a petition for a stay of execution with Judge Thomas F. Keating in an effort to halt the eviction. A hearing on the motion was set for 3 p.m. tomorrow before Judge Keating.

Raymond L. Hanson of the San Francisco, attorney for the 41-year-old Novak, said he tried to have Novak move into the mansion Tuesday afternoon "but she defied him." He said Novak has offered her any one of several homes, but she refused to budge or give up her two sons, John Jr., 10, and Jeffrey, 8. Mrs. Novak is allowed to retain custody of Jo Ann Roche, 16, her daughter by a previous marriage.

Under a court order issued Tuesday, Novak has the legal right to move into the Trumbull mansion now. "However, we are trying to preserve the peace for the day," said Hanson. The attorney said Novak will wait until after tomorrow's hearing.

The court order followed a torrid custody fight, in which Novak accused his wife of adultery with a San Francisco printer, a Lake Tahoe card dealer and several other men. While the main divorce action is pending, Judge Keating awarded temporary custody of the two boys to Novak and ordered Mrs. Novak to get out. She is to get $400 temporary support, a Cadillac, and custody of her daughter.

"We tendered the first $400 to her on Tuesday and again yesterday, but she refused to move out," said attorney Hanson. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Novak called a deputy sheriff to her home when Novak arrived to take possession. But Novak left quietly, and no incident developed.

Novak will spend another night on his cot in his Novato office.

Architects, Board Talk In Lagunitas

The governing board of the Lagunitas School District interviewed representatives of four architectural firms at a special meeting last night regarding a possible addition to the Lagunitas School.

Firms represented were: Gordon A. Phillips of San Rafael; John Lyon Reid, San Francisco; Callister and Rosse, San Francisco; and Gillis and Forell, San Francisco.

No decision on choice of architect was reached by the board.

Sanitary District Annexation Looms

Approximately 300 of the 500 acres running from Richardson Bay to Raccoon Straits that are not now in the Tiburon Sanitary District are committed to annexation by the end of this month, it was learned at a special meeting last night of Tiburon Peninsula hillside property owners.

Sanitary engineers Brown and Caldwell submitted a report forecasting total potential population for the sanitary district plus Belvedere at 10,800, which would be served by the Tiburon Sanitary District treatment plant if Belvedere contracts for service.

Leslie Smith, engineer and spokesman for Tiburon Associates, said expansion of the Tiburon plant now to take care of existing population would cost approximately $300,000. If the plant were expanded now to take care of the 10,800 predicted population, the cost would be around $370,000, he said.

He added that under Public Law 660, a federal grant providing aid for sewage treatment facilities, approximately $115,000 or one-third of the total price would be received from the U.S. government.

Belvedere and Tiburon have received high priority for this grant because of the Bay Area Regional Water Pollution Control Board's order to Belvedere to "cease and desist dumping raw sewage in the bay," Smith reported.

To qualify for the grant the petition for annexation to the district would have to be processed by July and the petition completely signed by the end of this month. Smith said the petition will be in the Tiburon Associates office, 36 Main street in Tiburon, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for signatures.

He said signatures representing 75 per cent of the hillside area's assessed valuation has to be secured before annexation proceedings can start. He said that Belvedere and the area to be annexed would pay the remaining treatment expansion cost of $230,000 in a ratio of approximately 40 per cent for Belvedere and 60 per cent for the hillside area.

The plant acquisition cost per existing dwelling in the area would be $200, plus approximately $800 for the cost of the collection system, he said. He stressed that these figures are approximate.

Rescuers Find Entrances In Mine Blocked

LOGAN, W.Va. (P)—Two entrances, either of which was expected to lead to the 18 trapped men in a burning coal mine, were found blocked by slate falls today, delaying the drive to rescue them.

Wearry, begrimed rescue workers, who had expected to reach their buddies by early morning, conceded that the job now will take much longer.

More than 48 hours has passed since last word was received from the trapped men on the mine telephone at noon Tuesday, and there was no indication whether they were dead or still alive.

A new rescue crew was ordered to duty, a crew that officials of the Island Creek Coal Co., operator of No. 22 mine at Holden, eight miles southwest of here, had hoped would not be needed.

Word filtered out of the mine that the rescue workers were experiencing increasing difficulty with rising heat.

Long-Range Recreation Planning Wins Support

The San Rafael Advisory Council on Recreation and Parks last night unanimously endorsed the idea that San Rafael should plan for 20 years ahead in the recreation picture, and that Marinwood and Terra Linda should be in this picture.

Meeting at the First National Bank in San Rafael, the council heard reports from Kenneth R. Anderson, city planning consultant.

He said it would be important for the city to plan ahead; that cities which did not plan have found themselves in distress after periods of growth. Anderson said recreation should be planned over the entire San Rafael drainage area, including the valleys containing Terra Linda and Marinwood.

To plan only within the present boundaries of the city would be "unrealistic," Anderson said.

Another report centered on what Anderson called San Rafael's "unique" recreation position.

People come to live in San Rafael, he said, because of its climate, and its close proximity to educational facilities, recreational and cultural centers.

These things, he said, must be considered in any recreation plan. He gave as example the nearby campsite at Samuel Taylor State Park. Another city without such facilities available, he pointed out, might want to plan for them.

The council will meet again at 8 p.m., March 23, at the bank.

Mail Woes

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (P)—It's not rain, nor sleet, nor storm that's keeping mail carriers from swift completion of their appointed rounds here. It's painted porches and locked gates.

Postmaster William A. Maillet has asked residents to relocate their mailboxes or put out a box for mail in such cases.

Status Of San Anselmo's Master Plan Argued By Council Candidates

San Anselmo's master plan came in for considerable buffeting today as candidates for the city council appraised its implementation.

Appearing on a radio station KTIM "Sounding Board" panel were Mayor Arthur W. Smith, Henry J. (Beck) Regalia, John M. Reichmuth and Robert F. Rouse. They seek two places on the council in the April election. Smith is an incumbent. Regalia is retired, and Rouse and Reichmuth are commuters.

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Rouse, calling himself "not a crusader or a politician," said he is interested in the long-range future of San Anselmo. He said the issues of the election are: Progress or passiveness, objectivity or emotionalism, aggressiveness or stagnation.

Rouse said San Anselmo is a sleepy little town and needs to "catch up." He said he had been appointed a year ago to a citizens' committee to study the master plan and that he had been invited to attend a couple of meetings; but that since then he had heard of no meetings. He said this makes him unhappy.

Smith, defending the plan, said it is still being studied by the planning commission. It has been adopted as a guide by the city council. Regalia added that he thinks it is just a matter of money to put the plan into effect.

Reichmuth, referring to the appearance at this week's city council meeting of Mozart Kaufman on proposed expansion of his department store across San Anselmo Creek, said he thinks the master plan should be well enough in order to give Kaufman a "yes" or "no" answer.

Rouse said: "Little is being done at the council level to implement the plan. There should be action. I've reviewed the minutes on the (street) cut-through parallel to San Anselmo avenue, and nothing has been done."

Smith said it was part of the whole downtown plan, and that he was in favor of it. "It's going ahead now," he said. Rouse also lashed out at the "belief that daily proximity to city hall is a basis for being a good councilman." Smith is owner of a variety store across the street from the city hall.

"It's not fair to the commuters," Rouse said. "About 75 to 80 per cent of the people living in San Anselmo do not work here. If closeness to the city hall is the criterion of good government, it's excluding persons who commute from contributing to city government."

Smith said he was qualified by experience to continue to serve. He has served 17 years, eight of them as mayor. He hailed Kaufman's plan as "the beginning of an extensive redevelopment" and said San Anselmo government is "good and economically run."

Regalia said that as a retired person he is interested in keeping down taxes. All agreed.

As to broadening the tax base, Smith said it could be done by development of the business district.

Regalia said, "It's up to the businessmen." Rouse called for "additional taxing opportunities," and declared the master plan "is a vital thing in broadening the tax base." Reichmuth asked for more multiple dwellings.

All agreed that a city administrator or city manager form of government is better than a mayor-council government, that the fire and police departments should not be overhauled, and that city business should be conducted in public.

Hub Woman Hurt As Cars Collide

A San Anselmo resident, Mrs. Louise O'Bid, was slightly injured last night when the stopped car she was in was struck from the rear in front of Zip's Drive-In at 754 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, San Anselmo.

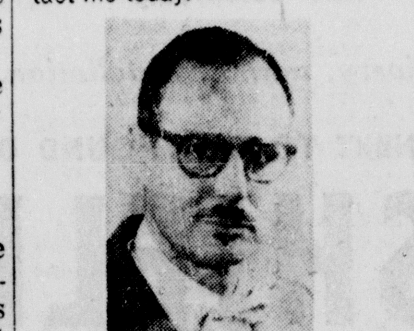

Mrs. O'Bid, 48, of 9 West court, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a knee cut suffered when a car driven by Dewey Staggs of 85 Meernaa avenue, Fairfax, was unable to stop in time and crashed into the rear of the O'Bid car.

Mrs. O'Bid said she and her daughter Patricia, who was driving, were headed east on the boulevard when a second car in front of them suddenly pulled into the drive-in. Patricia stopped suddenly.

Burdell Pupils To Use Novato Room Next Year

Burdell School District children will continue to attend classes for another year in a room in Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato.

James Grossi, district clerk, told fellow trustees last night he had received permission from the county superintendent and the state Board of Education to have the Burdell children taught outside their district for 1960-61. The Burdell School burned in November, 1958.

Grossi said that in the coming year the board will make a study of the feasibility of rebuilding or merging the district with another.

Our Lady of Loretto School has granted the district permission to use a classroom for another year, Grossi said.

HAYDEN

There was an air of mystery too; both at Hayden's home and at the reception. At the home, a concerned housekeeper called police when a car drove up with two men. One of them stayed in the car and the other went to the house and sat on the porch.

Questioned by police, they said they had arrived to take photographs, but they were persuaded to leave. They were identified as Gene Amadea of San Francisco and Thomas Demenagos of Pacifica. Later they said they were hired by George Walker "to talk to Hayden."

At the reception, there was a woman in black. She entered with photographers and reporters who had been requested to stay on a nearby deck until the ceremony was completed. No one, including Hayden, knew who she was. When pressed for her identification, she fled to the street, telling one reporter she was a girl friend of a television announcer.

Mrs. McConnell wore a pink brocade gown and a tiara of pink roses in her dark hair. She wore a pair of blue satin slippers which she had planned to have dyed pink, but "didn't have time."

Hayden met his bride on a blind date in New York about a month ago while he was making a television film. She is a native New Yorker. Both she and her former husband, Neil A. McConnell, are listed in the New York Social Register. She said she was "strictly a housewife."

Yesterday was her 29th birthday. Hayden is 43.

None of the children attended the wedding. Her son, Scott, 8, remained in New York in school. Hayden's children are Christian, 11; Thor, 10; Gretchen, 9; and Matthew, 7. They attend Reed Union School District classes.

When they return from their trip, the Haydens will live in Belvedere and not on the yacht Wanderer, the ship that Hayden took to Tahiti in violation of a court order forbidding him to take his children out of the country.

The voyage was the climax to a bitter and long custody battle with Mrs. De Noon. Hayden's first wife was actress Madeleine Carroll.

Guests arrived at the wedding yesterday by a small funeral. Including the bride couple, there were 17 persons in all. Hayden's best man was Sherman Oaks writer Tunely Walker. Walker, a polio victim, stood at Hayden's side supported by aluminum braces.

Others present included author and restaurateur Barnaby Conrad of San Francisco and his wife, author Eugene Burick of Berkeley and Mrs. Burick, author Ernet Gann with Dodie Post, matron Mrs. George Joyce of Bel Air, San Francisco columnist Herb Caen and Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford of Belvedere, neighbors of the Haydens.

GRAHAM

Susan Hayward won an Academy Award for her portrayal of Mrs. Graham.

Nelson also filled in the details of the confession to the late Warden Teets.

Nelson said, "I remember the incident well (when Teets told him of the confession). It happened on Oct. 24, 1956. I'm sure of the date because the night before I had myself been called to Death Row by a prisoner who wanted to spill his story."

"He told me a gruesome tale of how he de-gutted his victim. I couldn't sleep afterwards. It made me ill. The next morning I told Warden Teets about it. I said I didn't think I should have to listen to such things as part of my job."

"Teets said, 'I know how you feel about it. I had to listen to Barbara Graham tell how she pistol-whipped Mrs. Monahan and spilled her brains all over the place.'"

"Teets told me he had the same reaction I had. It made him ill. But then he told me: 'When prisoners want to confess, it's part of the warden's job to listen to it's something you have to put up with. Try to forget it and not worry about it.'"

Nelson said Teets later told Weissich the same story.

Leavy disclosed the confession during testimony on the bill to abolish the death penalty in a state Senate committee hearing last night. The committee rejected Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bill to do away with capital punishment.

Leavy, the man who prosecuted Chessman, said Teets had told two men of the confession—Nelson and Weissich.

He said he revealed the story because the movie "I Want To Live" gave the impression Mrs. Graham was innocent—"a black mark on the administration of justice in California."

Mixed Up Figures Make Big Error

Transposition of two figures made a scandalizing error in a story in Tuesday's Independent Journal about the sale of the College Market in Kentfield.

The story said Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Russell, new owners of the market, were married in 1954. But in another place, it mentioned they have five children, of whom the oldest helps out at the store after school.

This made it appear to be a flagrant case of child labor or—well, figure it out for yourself.

All because a "4" and a "5" got transposed. The Russells were married in 1945.

HEARING

Continued from page 1 ule of executions will continue at San Quentin's gas chamber. In addition to Chessman, 20 men and one woman face execution.

It was Brown's reprieve of Chessman and his calling of a special session on capital punishment that touched off the great debate. The hearing started at 9 a.m. yesterday and didn't end until 1 a.m. today.

It ended on a dramatic note when Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy of Los Angeles disclosed that Barbara Graham, fourth woman to be executed in California history, confessed her guilt in the last few minutes of her life in 1955. (See story on this page.)

Even as the Senate committee debated the death penalty question, the state Supreme Court yesterday turned down Chessman's latest petition. This one challenged legality of his new May 2 execution date.

A. L. Wirin, one of his attorneys, told newsmen here the decision ended Chessman's court appeals.

The 38-year-old prisoner was convicted in 1948 on charges of kidnap-robbery which involved forcing two young women to perform an unnatural sex act.

The Senate committee listened to proponents of repeal for seven hours. It wasn't until 8:30 p.m. that opponents—chiefly law enforcement officers—stepped up to the witness stand in the theater-type hearing room.

Witnesses supporting the bill hit two main themes: That capital punishment does not deter crime; that it is "barbaric" and "brutalizes society."

All but one of the opposition witnesses argued that the death penalty is a greater deterrent than any other form of punishment.

The exception was Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson of Ventura County, who said that the death penalty is no greater deterrent than life imprisonment.

Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich of Marin County argued that statistics are valueless in determining the deterrent effect of the death penalty.

He argued that is "common sense" to believe that it that effect because "death is the most feared fate."

"As elected representatives of the people you should not deprive them of capital punishment until they clearly indicate they want you to do so," he said.

Another Marinite who testified was Rev. Daniel McAlister, administrator of St. Raphael's Roman Catholic Parish in San Rafael and a former San Quentin Prison chaplain.

Father McAlister, who said he had seen 75 executions, called capital punishment "a stupid and sordid mess."

Actress Phyllis Kirk, appearing for a state abolition committee, called the death penalty "ritual barbarism."

Out-of-state witnesses testifying for Brown's bill included Douglass Riggs, warden of Stillwater Penitentiary in Minnesota, a former San Quentin official.

3 Teen-Agers Admit Theft In Novato

Three teen-aged boys attending Novato High School have confessed stealing about $60 from the Northland Assembly of God Church at 1370 South Novato boulevard, Sheriff's Sgt. Edward Levine reported today.

The boys, aged 14, 15 and 16, were turned over to juvenile authorities. Levine said the youths also admitted taking pocket books from Brice Brothers, candy from Ben Franklin's, cigars from Jim's Sport Shop and toys from Womack's Variety store during the past several months.

The church theft occurred about Feb. 23. The 15-year-old was a member of the church and knew where the missionary fund was kept. Sergeant Levine explained. The boys said they divided up the money, cut school and went for a spree at Playland in San Francisco.

WATER

Continued from page 1 Valley Reservoir-Mine Ridge systems, said Seeger. He termed the first "nothing more than a hodgepodge of numerous individual water systems" now. Where possible, however, it is planned to supply from the filter plant to be constructed during this year and next.

Mill Valley reservoir and especially the LaPuchet tract have been supplied by Mt. Tamalpais springs but constant population growth is forcing a change, so fluoridation equipment should be considered for the present systems there, said Seeger.

Although 1960 water consumption is expected to be greater than the 6.5 billion gallons used during 1959, Seeger said the figure of last year has been used. He cited future estimates as follows: 1970, 10.6 billion gallons; 1980, 13.1 billion; 1990, 15.5 billion.

Total equipment and installation cost was estimated at $14,215, divided as follows: San Geronimo filter plant, $2,855; Bon Tempe filter plant, $2,750; Kent Lake pumps, $3,093; Alpine Lake, $3,093; Phoenix Lake, $2,424.

Seeger said dry chemical feeders are available with feed range adjusted by turning a knob. They are actuated by the flow of the water itself to feed in the chemicals on a time-impulse signal.

Average life of capital investment in other areas has been found to be 20 years, Seeger said. In a compilation of yearly costs this was used as a basis for amortization and building space was calculated on a basis of 50-year life.

Novel Bar

LAKE MOHAWK, N.J. (AP)—Norman Rintoul has built a bar for his game room from the shell of a salvaged motorboat.

The deck supports drinks on a raised "dry dock" stand. Mixers are stored under the seat, a cooler unit is under the deck and an oar is used as a footrail.

Sausalito Planners Bounce 2 Rows Back To Council

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night bounced two controversial applications back to the city council.

The council had returned to the planners the use permit and variance requests of Rob Rose and Views Land Co. because it held findings required by city ordinance had not been made. Last night, the planners ruled the findings completed and sent both back to the council.

In both cases, the vote was 4-1, with Mrs. Ruth Sisson voting "no" and Edgar H. Rowe and Robert E. McCabe abstaining because they were not

Hotel Holds Use Permit Not Needed

The Alta Mira Hotel withdrew its request for a variance and use permit to enlarge its seating capacity by 240 places at last night's Sausalito Planning Commission meeting.

Raymond Hanson, attorney for William Wachter of the Alta Mira, in a letter to the commission, said the requests were being withdrawn because he could find no legal basis for believing the hotel needs either the variance or use permit. He said it is merely asking for an extension of existing structures on the same property which is presently zoned for a hotel operation.

Hanson said he would apply instead, for a building permit to the building inspector.

The planning commission on Feb. 10 recommended denial of a use permit on the grounds the Alta Mira is a hotel, with 15 rooms, but its primary use is that of a restaurant. They held it was a non-conforming use in an apartment hotel zone.

Sausalito Zoning Ordinance To Be Read March 23

Sausalito Planning Commission Chairman Victor E. Hecht announced at last night's commission meeting that reading of the proposed Sausalito zoning ordinance would be the first thing on the March 23 agenda.

The reading was postponed last night.

Hecht said there will be hearings by the planning commission and city council, and "this will not be a rush operation."

On his announcement, at 11:30 p.m., about 30 persons, who had been waiting since 8 p.m., left the city hall chambers.

Valhalla Variances Go To Councilmen

Variances which would enable Sally Stanford to add more dining space to her Valhalla Restaurant were sent to the city council last night by the Sausalito Planning Commission.

City Atty. John B. Ehlen ruled, since the previous meeting of the planning commission, that Miss Stanford does not require a use permit because, under the ordinance, she is permitted to continue use of her property for the same purpose it is now being used. The variances had been granted by the commission at their previous meeting.

Views Land Co. seeks a permit to build two 12-unit apartment houses at Shelter Cove.

Sidney Rudy, attorney for Walter Benson of Views Land Co., said "The use permit shall not be detrimental to the public health, safety or welfare of the people." (This reference was to fulfill one of the ordinance requirements.)

LAWYER OBJECTS

Leonard Bjorklund, attorney for two property owners in the cove area, declared: "When a commissioner says it is a lousy thing and then moves for its passage, he doesn't understand the thing."

Bjorklund was referring to commissioner Gilbert P. Murphy's statement in the previous meeting: "I think this is a lousy thing for the area. But I think the only way to get it (the property) is to acquire it through public funds. It is not a thing for the planning commission but for the city council."

'RIDICULOUS'

Victor E. Hecht, chairman, said: "The member of the commission who made this unfortunate statement was in the throes of having a new arrival at his home. I hope it won't follow him through his life and be carved on his tombstone. I told you there is a much better word than lousy. 'It is 'ridiculous.'"

The crowd applauded when commissioner McCabe said, "If you are going to build up Sausalito's waterfront you are taking away part of the natural resources of this community."

DENIAL VOTED

Rose sought a use permit and variance to build nine shops on El Portal street. Although this was returned to the council, Rose lost out on another use permit and variance application for a restaurant, cocktail lounge and another shop on adjoining property. The vote against this was 5-2, with Murphy and Carl G. Wooley the dissenters.

A subcommittee had recommended denial of the variance for offstreet parking because the commission said it is not practical to provide parking in the area.

NO PARKING

"It is practically impossible to provide offstreet parking spaces without demolishing the whole building," Rose objected.

It was suggested by Mrs. Marian Frick in the audience that it might be possible for Rose to put parking facilities on the ground floor of his building and build his restaurant on the second floor, but Rose said engineers told him it would have to be demolished to do this.

Laundry Theft Suspects Jailed

Two men from San Jose, suspected of drilling holes in automatic laundry machines to steal coins, were booked in Marin County Jail yesterday by San Anselmo police.

Jack Pavlich, 43, and Nicholas Demira, 39, were held in lieu of $5,250 bail each. San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said the two are being held as suspects in the theft of money from two automatic laundries in San Anselmo last Feb. 24. Holes were neatly drilled at the exact spot where a rod could be inserted to trip the coin levers. The holes were then filled with putty to conceal the mark.

Chief Buchignani said drills and putty which the men had are being examined in Sacramento today to see if they match up with the San Anselmo thefts. Pavlich and Demira were caught in Fortuna for questioning in connection with similar thefts there. Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio brought the men to Marin Tuesday.

Campion Fortunate Choice As R.E.A. General Manager

Will the Redwood Empire Association endure after the retirement of its general manager, Clyde Edmonson, who for 34 years has been its guiding spirit?

That's the question we posed in this space a few weeks ago soon after Edmonson announced his intention to retire.

Our conclusion then was that Edmonson had done such a sound job of moulding the association that it would endure after his separation from it.

That conclusion obviously was based largely on faith.

Now we have something more concrete. Edmonson's successor has been chosen. He is Carney J. Campion, an energetic young fellow who has served for several years as general manager of the Redwood Region Conservation Council with headquarters at Santa Rosa.

In our view his selection to carry on where Edmonson leaves off assures the successful continuation of Redwood Empire Assn. efforts.

In its 34-year history the association has accomplished much of value to its constituent counties, including Marin, along the North Coast.

The forging of the Redwood Highway itself was the result of R.E.A. cooperative effort. The establishment of the Shoreline Highway (State Route No. 1) as a part of the state highway system likewise was largely the result of R.E.A. effort.

Beyond these and other visible works are the less tangible accomplishments of "selling" the Redwood Empire counties as a desirable vacation area and generating considerable tourist traffic into the Empire.

Along with the inspiration of an energetic and youthful new general manager, the R.E.A. is enjoying another valuable development. Within the association during the past year or two there has emerged a group of forward-looking volunteer workers. At the R.E.A. executive board's recent meeting in Eureka there was more evidence of concentrated thought and action by R.E.A. volunteers than we have observed for some years. The board heard reports and took action on recommendations that originated largely from the volunteers. There was an absence of simple endorsement of staff-prepared and staff-presented proposals. The yoke of routine had been thrown off. Original thought had replaced routine.

Campion couldn't have arrived on the scene at a more opportune time. As we see it, the association in the next couple of decades can accomplish as much or more than it has in the past three and a half decades. Marin will share in the benefits.

Who's In Charge Of Water?

With talk of water rationing in the wind for this summer, we thought our readers might like to know a bit about our Marin Municipal Water District.

It was formed about 1912 from a group of private companies as the result of a public election. The Water District has gradually absorbed the other companies in its area. It now serves an area of about 137 square miles with more than 600 miles of water mains.

The water supply is obtained from rainfall collected from a watershed of approximately 27 square miles on the slopes of Mt. Tamalpais. The water is stored in five lakes which hold about 10 billion gallons when full. This supplies 36,000 outlets from the mains at the average rate of 126 gallons per person per day.

In this second year of subnormal rainfall, the reservoirs are still comparatively low and it behooves us all to conserve water. We must all do our part in holding the line against real inconvenience.

Parent Just Can't Win When He Tries To Instill Child With Goal

NEW YORK — It is never too early to instill a child with worthwhile goals, and an appreciation of the finer things in life.

Every conscientious parent today knows this and tries to do something about it.

But — as every parent knows — it is easier to bend a crowbar than it is to bend the mind or will of a growing child. It is easier to pick up quicksilver with chopsticks.

When my daughter, Tracy Ann, was six months old I decided it was time to begin teaching her the first precepts designed to make her a finer and nobler woman.

"There is more to this world than just lying around all day in a play pen sucking milk out of a bottle," I told her. "It's time you gave a little thought to the future. Remember, what you are to be you are now becoming."

I might as well have been talking to a stone wall. Tracy went on her careless thoughtless way, living only for today.

On her first birthday I took her aside for a heart to heart talk.

"Look, kid," I told her, "life isn't just one long ride on the merry-go-round. It's a battlefield. Now is the time to be getting ready for the struggle. What are you going to do about it?"

"Glug!" exclaimed Tracy, waving her small fists like rampant roosebuds.

When she was 2 I tried to give her a sense of moral earnestness by reading her Milton's "Paradise Lost" at bedtime. My wife made me quit.

"You're giving the child insomnia," she insisted.

Hoping she might develop an interest in art, I tossed away her coloring book and gave her a $10 copy of "World Masterpieces of Painting." She ate it up. In two days. All but the hard covers.

At 5 she announced she was going to be a ballerina. This turned out to be just a passing fancy. At 6 she was obviously sure she would be a nurse.

SOON TRACY ANN will be 7. The other day we had another sober discussion of the future, and I told her it was finally time she put away childish things and decide what she really wanted to be.

"I know what I want to be," she said suddenly. "I want to grow up and be a teen-ager."

"Why?" I demanded.

"BECAUSE a teen-ager gets to wear lipstick and thick black socks," she said. "And there's another reason. Teen-agers can do anything they want to."

A parent can't win — and he might as well quit trying.

10 YEARS AGO

W. F. Langelier, for 25 years consulting sanitary and water treatment engineer for the Marin Municipal Water District, declared that in his opinion the question of fluoridation of Marin water as a preventive of dental caries in youngsters should be settled by the California Department of Health.

Where To Apply For Acceptance?

EDITOR.

Independent-Journal:

The letter of Leo Kemper of Sausalito, headed "Prejudice Fanned by Pledge Signing," makes a point that I should like to see clarified. He says, "To be accepted as a neighbor, anyone, regardless of race, creed, or economic status, first must prove himself worthy." I never realized this.

Let us suppose, for the moment, that I have enough money and that I want to buy a house near that of Mr. Kemper. Do I, or does he have to prove himself worthy? If the system is based on the assumption that the first to come is the most worthy, how should I go about my proof? Is there a court of neighborhood status I should apply to? Or should I knock on Mr. Kemper's door? If he detects the stars in my eyes, will I be banished from Sausalito — or how far does his domain extend?

I don't want to appear hasty in my search for quick acceptance, but I would very much appreciate his instructions as to the proper procedure. I certainly don't want to weaken the American way of life.

Fire Protection If They Pay

EDITOR.

Independent-Journal:

The article re: the Terra Linda Fire Dept. in March 3 issue of the I-J was false and misleading. My home is within the CSD limits, and I pay taxes for fire protection. Homes on the other side of the ditch have repeatedly been asked to join CSD, and they have declined. Since you have such strong feelings on the point, suppose you send all the equipment from the San Rafael Fire Dept. on the next call in this area. If someone in your building needs fire protection or a resuscitator, you can always call the county.

Naturally in a case where human life is in danger, I would want aid to be given. In this case, our Dept. was alerted and stood ready. Several volunteers rushed to the scene, as private citizens, and when they arrived they found Mr. Wolfe had the blaze under control. Thus our equipment which stood ready by the ditch was recalled.

If the people on the other side of the ditch want increased property protection, then they'll have to make arrangements for same.

Kemper Omitted Important Words

EDITOR.

Independent-Journal:

It seems unfortunate that for some reason Leo Kemper in his letter to the I-J opposing the pledge for fair play in housing, quotes only part of the pledge and omits the important words "... on the same basis as any others."

The omitted words clearly refute his intimation that persons signing the pledge are blindly accepting all individuals of minority groups as good neighbors before they have proved themselves worthy of such consideration.

"The omitted words do explain that the same basis that one would use to accept or reject a white neighbor should be the basis used to judge minority neighbors. I believe the criterion one usually uses in this determination are character traits such as honesty, industriousness, friendliness, etc., which are to be found in members of all races."

public office in a shoddy and shifty effort to make it appear that he has had "victory" predicted by the Republicans.

Mr. Miller recently sent me a carefully torn clipping from the "Roll Call," a tabloid newspaper published in Washington, D.C., with a heading which reads: Miller Victory Forecast By GOP Coast Coalition. Date of publication was Jan. 20. There was no story, just the heading.

Puzzled over this incongruity, I immediately sent for a copy of the specific issue. The first paragraph under the heading reads as follows: "House Republicans backing Rep. William E. Miller (NY) were hopeful today that Acting Chairman Rep. William M. McCulloch (Ohio) would withdraw from the race for chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee." The article goes on to make it clear that the "Coast" referred to in the heading is the East Coast.

Mr. Miller apparently sought to make me believe that HE was the Miller referred to, and that it was the West Coast GOP which was forecasting victory.

I don't know how the tricky mis-representative from our district can justify this shady maneuver. He may have thought it was funny, but to my mind it clearly reveals his shallowness and eagerness to seize upon any straw which might indicate that he will survive another election.

He fooled the voters two years ago, but now that he has established a "record" for himself, they aren't about to be fooled again, as the record is a mighty sorry thing to contemplate.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Flight Of Fancy Produces Formula For Finding Safest Place On Earth

ANY WEEK now they will again be observing National Safety Week, an event which seems to come up approximately five times a year. So let's be well prepared.

With no help except vague recollections of publicity handouts from the National Safety Council, plus my native shrewdness and a wealth of squirreled-away useless information, I have compiled what for lack of better name may be termed the Gould Formula For Maximum Personal Safety.

Here is how, as I figure it, you can enjoy your greatest security:

Be out on Highway 101, driving your car at 65 miles an hour; let the car be a German Porsche, and eat Marin-made peanut brittle.

It will take brains and concentration to understand but hold on hard.

FIRST, WHY BE on a public highway? Elemental, my dear Watson. Statistics show that 64.3 per cent of all accidents, give or take a bump or two, happen in the home. Stay away from home.

Now about that 65-mile pace. Figures of the U.S. Department of Commerce (see "The Federal Role In Highway Safety") prove that the fewest accidents happen on the road between 55 and 70 miles an hour, and the most happen between 30 and 40. California's 65-mile maximum seems dandy.

The Porsche? Of course every now and then somebody gets his name in the paper by being creamed in a racing Porsche but I am talking about my own safe sane coupe. Let us have a look at the law of probability.

In 1950 only 298 Porsches were made and though in 1959 a total of 7,100 came into being, of which 40 per cent or 2,800 were sold in the United States, consider that in 1959 some 1,528,592 Fords rolled off the assembly lines.

Even for a non-mathematical genius like myself, to whom the outcome of two times two is a matter of interesting speculation and infinite variation of answers, it is result of but a moment's mental calculation to announce that you have more than 545 times as much chance to be involved in accident when you ride in a 1959 Ford than in a 1959 Porsche.

(My Porsche is a 1959 model but if I owned an earlier model when fewer were made I would obviously be safer yet, if possible.)

FINALLY WE GET to the matter of the peanut brittle, a subject I had hoped I might avoid. This is because few if any of my writings have aroused more controversy than when I recently commended San Rafael peanut brittle as best in the world on a basis of experience all the way to Chungking.

I suppressed the unappetizing point that Chungking peanut brittle is doled out from the Chinese shopkeeper's glass jar complete with live flies; and I wasn't aware that there was a rival brittle-maker in Novato. Since then I have been treated to payola in the form of gift Novato brittle which was mighty fine, mighty fine, and I will hereafter just say that the best peanut brittle on earth comes from Marin County.

Well, about safety. On the fingers of one hand you can count all the casualties that occur all over the world on any given day involving people who are eating peanut brittle.

I'm not overlooking the case of Cynthia Jacobs of 333 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, who recently busted a tooth on some brittle. Actually I understand the brittle was made over in San Francisco, brought home by her husband Harry, and contained a Telegraph Hill rock. Such cases don't count.

The fact remains that you can't go wrong eating Marin-made peanut brittle. Or at any rate you would have to divide your attention.

Adlai's Suggestion For Debates On Great Issues Wins Support

WASHINGTON — How can we bring about a more meaty and exciting debate of the great issues at stake in a Presidential election?

Political campaigning has been in a rut for a long time. The torchlight parade has given way to the whistle-stop and the whistle-stop has pretty much given way to the jet-prop stop. But this has affected mostly the mechanics of political discussion. There is not enough serious debate of the most vital matters.

Perhaps the most compelling reason to develop something new and better in Presidential campaigning is the need for the candidates to have regular nationwide exposure on radio and television, which is becoming prohibitively expensive.

THIS MAY PROVE to be a blessing in disguise if it brings about these two consequences.

1—A change in law which would permit the networks to give prime radio and television time to the nominees of the two principal parties without being compelled to give equal facilities to a host of lesser candidates who are obviously not in the contest.

2—An improvement in the substance and quality of Presidential campaign speeches so that the networks could reasonably give the time as an act of public service.

One reason campaign speeches in the past have rarely made good radio and television is that they were delivered in the most hysterically partisan settings.

We can hardly blame the networks for not wanting to give away their time for that kind of stuff.

Both the Republican and Democratic National Chairmen have shown some interest, though rather skittishly, in the idea which Adlai Stevenson now develops further in an article in "This Week" magazine. Mr. Stevenson puts it this way:

"More than a hundred years ago my great-grandfather, Jesse Fell, an Illinois editor and friend of Abraham Lincoln, proposed the Lincoln-Douglas debates on a great issue: slavery. Imagine a debate, or at least a discussion on the great issues of our time with the whole country watching..."

"Suppose that every Monday evening, at peak viewing time, for an hour and a half from Labor Day to Election Eve, the two candidates aired their views. They might on each evening take up a single issue. Each in turn might discuss it for half an hour, followed by fifteen-minute rebuttals of one another for the third half hour."

THE FIRST STEP is for Congress to alter the law so that the networks could provide the facilities without running afoul of the equal-time provision which now prevents them from doing so.

Sen. A. S. "Mike" Monroney of Oklahoma has written to me that he is ready to introduce the needed legislation at an appropriate moment. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, has said that C. B. S. will provide ample prime viewing time when Congress permits. The other networks would undoubtedly do the same.

Gov. Stevenson suggests that the time is at hand to establish a "new national institution, a great debate for the Presidency." I think he's right.

Tam Vs. Richmond In Champs Tournament

Poor in statistics but rich in spirit, the Tamalpais Indians dive headfirst into the high school athletic world's Tournament of Champions basketball classic tonight at the University of California gymnasium in Berkeley.

Coach Eddie Chavez, a champion in his very first season at the helm of the Tam cage machine, sends his Indians against the Richmond Oilers, North Alameda County Athletic powerhouse, at 7:30 o'clock in the third game on the tournament's four-game opening round.

Other openers and records of teams:

4:30—McClymonds, Oakland A. L., 19-0 vs. Hayward, South Alameda, A. L., 17-5; 6 p.m.—Clayton Valley, Diablo Valley A. L., 17-3, vs. Monterey, Coast Counties A. L., 18-3; 9 p.m.—Santa Rosa, North Bay League, 18-6, vs. St. Ignatus, San Francisco, 18-6.

The tournament continues tomorrow and Saturday.

Tam, undefeated in 10 Marin County Athletic League games but only 14-6 in overall season won-lost records, goes against a Richmond team that has won 20 of 22 games, including 12 straight in the North ACAL.

If the Indians win tonight they will play the winner of the St. Ignatus-Santa Rosa game tomorrow night at 9 o'clock. A loss would put the Indians against the loser of S. I.-Santa Rosa tomorrow at 6 p.m.

McClymonds, working on a sensational string of 65 victories and seeking its third straight T of C crown, is the solid tourney favorite.

Tamalpais is last in the statistical department of the eight tourney entries. The Indians have averaged only 41.7 points per game and have given opponents 46.6 per tilt. Richmond comes into the game with 51.6 and 40.6, respectively.

Tam, a good clutch team that won several tilts with final-minute rallies, will rely on the scoring punch of forward Conrad Hoetger and center Ray Edwards who finished second and third in the Marin individual scoring race with 115 and 114 points, respectively.

Bobby Hector, Russ Cook and Norm Kreuter round out the Tam starting five. Their main problems tonight will be Alex Brown and Bob Bayless, heart and soul of Richmond's quint. Brown had 265 rebounds and 162 points in 22 games while Bayless hit for 311 points and 100 rebounds. Both were All-League selections.

For those who can't make it to Berkeley tonight, a play-by-play broadcast of the game will be taped and broadcast on KTAM at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Ted Mitchell and Karl Barron will handle the mikes for the KTAM Sportsmen's Club.

Davlin Transfers To Tam; Denies Grid De-emphasis At Marin Catholic

Is Marin Catholic High School planning to de-emphasize football? Rumors to that effect have been circulating throughout Marin County for the past year and they hit a new peak Monday night when Mike Davlin, former Washington Redskins star, announced his resignation as the parochial school's head football coach to accept a position with the Tamalpais High School faculty.

However, Davlin staunchly denied any rumored de-emphasis of the sport prompted his change in jobs. Yesterday he said, "To the contrary, the (Marin Catholic) administration has been wonderful to me, particularly in football. They've been most helpful and encouraging. As far as I'm concerned those de-emphasis rumors are a lot of bunk."

Davlin said he resigned from the job "because I have a great opportunity to further my teaching career at Tam."

Davlin was hired as mathematics teacher at Tam Monday night. No mention was made of a possible coaching assignment with the Mill Valley school.

The former Washington line-man stressed that "I've had four very happy years at Marin. Everyone's been extremely encouraging and I hate to leave. But, I feel this is an excellent opportunity to further my teaching career at Tam. I've had very cordial relations with Tam in the past and am looking forward to my new assignment."

Ironically, one of Davlin's greatest triumphs came last season when his Wildcats upset the heavily favored Tam Indians, 7-6.

Davlin, the father of six children, has an impressive background in the football world. At 16 he was the youngest person ever to play varsity for Notre Dame. Later he played for Great Lakes Naval Training center, then to USF in 1947 and '48 under Whistlin' Ed McKeever and Joe Kuharich.

Big Mike had a short fling in pro football, playing one season with the Redskins as offensive tackle and defensive end. However, a complete shoulder separation late in that 1955 season ended his playing career and he came to Marin in 1956 as an assistant coach, taking over the head job in 1957.

Davlin's teams have been noted for their fundamentally sound performances. He's a strict disciplinarian who gets the most out of his players.

Tam would do well to use his coaching ability in some capacity or another.

AND STICKING to the pigskin sport, Marin County will have two well-known "toes" trying out for work with the Oakland entry in the new American Football League.

They are Gordon Tovani of Kentfield, the well-known barefooted plunger-kicker, and Lt. Lou Baldacci of Hamilton Air Force Base's powerful eleven, who kicks with his shoes on.

Tovani, 32, feels he can offer the Oakland club a special crowd attraction. After all, how many football players kick with their bare toes? Also, Tovani feels he's good enough to give the club sure-fire points after TDs and enough field goals to keep the owners happy.

He's exhibited his abilities throughout the west, performing exhibitions, including a 50-yard boot in downtown Reno. His "goal posts" for that one, which tied up traffic, was the "Biggest Little City In The World" archway on main street.

In another performance Tovani booted a pigskin through the window of the editorial offices of a southern California newspaper.

Tovani said he never missed a PAT and averaged 50 yards per kickoff at St. Ignatus High School several years ago. "So I can kick well under pressure."

Says he: "If Oakland sends me a contract they will have the only bare-footed kicker in the National or American football leagues. No other team can make that statement."

Meanwhile, Baldacci, just a plain ordinary kicker, was given permission by the Pittsburgh Steelers, who own his contract, to try out for the Oaklanders. Lou compiled quite a record at Hamilton and may have a good chance for the new Bay Area club.

TWO FORMER Marin high school baseball stars are playing for the University of Arizona freshman team. They are shortstop John Spadoni of San Rafael and pitcher Dick Spackman of Drake.

St. Patrick's Fete Slated In Fairfax

The Men's Club of St. Rita's Church, Fairfax, will hold a St. Patrick's "Hawaiian Dance" and dinner March 19 at St. Rita's Hall.

There will be a no-host cocktail hour from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., followed by a buffet of baked ham and roast turkey.

There will be dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Dance chairman is Stephen Ures, assisted by Paul Fraire. Ticket chairman is William Kessel. Eugene Hardin and Fred Baggio are planning decorations and Atilio Conti is planning the dinner. Sam Irving heads the refreshment committee and the cleanup will be under charge of Tom Little. Mike Yanni is in charge of publicity, and Al Fox will handle awards.

Tars Vs. L.A. In Tourney

College of Marin Tars will be "flying blind" tonight when they take their fourth consecutive crack at a California State Junior College Basketball Tournament Championship at San Jose.

DIES — Arnold Johnson (above), president of the Kansas City Athletics, died early today at the age of 53. Story on page 10.

The Tars take on Los Angeles City College at 9:15 o'clock in the opening round, and Coach Cal Riemcke admits: "We know very little of Los Angeles except they use the full court press and are very fast. Other than that we're in the dark as to what to expect."

Marin qualified for the tournament by winning the Golden Valley Conference for the fourth straight year with an 8-2 record and over-all season record of 16-10. L.A. won its league with an 11-1 mark.

Leading the Tars, as they have all season, will be forward Kenny Anderson and guard Ray Nickleberry, both first team selections on the All-GVC squad picked by the coaches.

Anderson rolled up 435 points in 26 games, a 16.7 average, and Nickleberry had 308 digits for an 11.8 average.

Ken Gelatti, honorable mention on the All-GVC squad which was announced yesterday, will start at the other forward, Dale Aman will be at the other guard and Larry Trick at center.

O'NEILL HURT Marin will be without the services of its number one substitute, Tom O'Neill, who suffered a badly sprained ankle in the final seconds of Marin's exhibition game with the league All-Stars last Friday. He will accompany the team to San Jose, however. The balance of Marin's squad includes Kirby Cannon, Robbie Harvey, John Blomquist and Amos Maples.

Marin will go into tonight's game with a six-game winning streak. In league competition the Tars averaged 61.1 points per game to opponents' 50.3.

Other opening games match City College of San Francisco against Fullerton, Santa Barbara vs. Hancock and San Jose vs. Bakersfield. The tournament at San Jose City College gymnasium will continue through Saturday.

Hub School Plans Father-Son Dinner

The annual father-son dinner sponsored by the Isabel Cook Parent-Teacher Assn. will be held Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the school in San Anselmo.

A spaghetti dinner will be served from 6 to 7:15 p.m., followed by a variety show and showing of a movie on the 1959 World Series.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Carr of 18 Carolina avenue are chairman of the committee.

National Forests Use Sets Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There were 13½ million visitors to California's national forests in 1958, a new record and an increase of 1,200,000 over 1957.

Regional forester Charles A. Connaughton said today that as the public appreciation of recreational opportunity in the forests increased, their use has been moving up steadily the past 10 years.

Connaughton said it is necessary to develop more recreation areas in the national forests to help meet the demand.

Kansas, Oregon Gain NCAA Regional Bids

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL Three years ago, Kansas went all the way to the final of the NCAA basketball tournament before dropping a one-point, triple-overtime decision to North Carolina.

The Jayhawks were sparked that season by a seven-foot import from Philadelphia's Overbrook High School named Wilt Chamberlain.

Now Coach Dick Harp's kids are back in the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1957—and their big gunner is another Overbrook High graduate, Wayne Hightower.

The six-foot-nine sophomore teamed with Jerry Gardner, another soph, in leading Kansas to an 84-82 overtime victory over Kansas State last night that earned the Jayhawks the right to represent the Big Eight Conference in the NCAA jamboree.

Kansas will meet Texas, the Southwest Conference champion, in the second round of the Midwest Regionals at Manhattan, Kan., tomorrow night. Cincinnati, led by fabulous Oscar Robertson, will face De Paul on the same double-header program.

Oregon advanced to the second round of the Far West Regionals with a come-from-behind 68-60 triumph over New Mexico State at Corvallis, Ore. Charlie Warren came off the bench to score 13 of his 15 points in the second half and help the Ducks wipe out a 34-27 halftime deficit.

In the second round at Seattle, Wash., tomorrow night, Oregon will play Utah and defending champion California faces Santa Clara.

The pairings for Friday night's other Regionals are: East at Charlotte, N. C.—Duke vs. St. Joseph's and West Virginia vs. New York University.

Midwest at Louisville, Ky.—Georgia Tech vs. Ohio University and Ohio State vs. Western Kentucky.

Mays Enthused About New Strength Of Giants' Pitching And Infield

PHOENIX — Willie Mays furnishes most of the gossip in the camp of the Giants. There isn't an hour passes that someone doesn't pop up with questions for Willie to answer. Some of them are pretty silly and some of them are quite embarrassing. But the "Say Hey" kid replies very graciously.

"Yes, I think this is the best club we've had since we came West," Mays confided today.

"We got pitching length and strength. We have our best defensive infield. That Blasingame is going to help my batting average because he'll be on those bases, and when he is base he worries the pitcher, and in that way I get to profit 'cause those pitchers have their mind on whether he's going to steal. That is when the pitcher eases up and when they do I get a better pitch to hit."

"I've read a lot of stuff about our club being weak on catchers," Mays declared. "But I don't agree. We got two good receivers in Landrith and Schmidt. And with the kind of experienced pitchers we have, they don't need too much counseling from the catcher. I'd say we're going to be okay behind the plate and we got good power in the outfield. Just you wait and watch Willie Kirkland and Alou this year. I think both of them are in for their greatest season."

I WAS concerned with whether Orlando Cepeda posed any extra pressure on Willie.

"Cepeda played the outfield as good as anybody would desire toward the end of the season," explained Mays. "Why, on the last road trip he was like an infielder handling ground balls. His throwing, while always good, was more accurate. Yep, I think Cepeda will be just great in 1960."

Mays always talks freely when boosting other players, but is quite timid and shy when cornered about himself.

"I'VE BEEN asked a lot of times if I thought I played up to my best the last two years,"

CONNOLLY

Mays explains. "All I can do is answer that by saying I was doing my best at all times. The size of Seals Stadium did make me angry at times because I saw easy fly balls dropping into the stands for home runs that I knew I could catch if the fences were not so close."

Many of the teammates of Mays think San Francisco fans are going to see a greater Mays due to the enlarged playing field at Candlestick Park.

One of those who predicts Willie will have his finest season is Bill Rigney, Giant skipper.

"I would say," Rigney declared, "that Mays is going to be happier in our new park than he has ever been since we moved West."

"With Willie having the area to roam I can play Cepeda and Kirkland close to the foul lines and be sure Mays can handle all the flies that have any loft at all. He's that kind of player in a big field."

THERE IS no harder worker than Mays in the Giants' camp. He has to be checked, and is quite frequently. If he had his own way he'd like to stay after the workouts and just have somebody pitch to him.

"Batting practice never hurts me," Mays says. "And I'm one fellow who can't get enough of it."

Mays isn't the only one in camp who would rather hit than eat. I've watched McCovey and Kirkland and Cepeda and there isn't one of 'em who wouldn't run around the park just for an extra time in the batting cage.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

Robinson Batting Ace In Cincinnati Games

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Frisky Frank Robinson is back in left field for the Cincinnati Reds and he's hitting like a happy man.

In the two intra-squad games played in training at Tampa, Fla., Robinson, who played first base last year, has two home runs and three doubles. The homers came yesterday as the 25-year-old right-handed hitter batted in four runs to lead the Cincinnati regulars to a 9-5 victory over the scrubs.

Robinson, the National League Rookie of the Year in 1956, says he is shooting for baseball's triple crown batting championship this season, and he prefers to play in left field.

After three seasons in which he played first only briefly, he was switched to the infield last year to fill the hole left by the trade that sent ailing Ted Kluszewski to Pittsburgh.

Robinson's future in left field is linked to Gordon Coleman, the 25-year-old rookie obtained from Cleveland during the off-season. If Coleman, who hit .353 with Mobile in the Southern Assn., can make the grade at first, Robinson will remain in the outfield.

Washington, Kansas City and New York also played intrasquad games in Florida in preparation for this weekend's exhibition openers.

At Orlando, Lennie Green, Sandy Valdespino and Ron Samford homered as the Senators played a 5-5 tie. Tom Acker pitched three hitless innings at West Palm Beach and Bob Trowbridge and Tom Gorman each went three scoreless innings in the A's 1-0 six-inning family tilt.

Andy Carey, a recent holdout tripled and singled for the winners in the Yankees' 5-4 game at St. Petersburg.

Ted Williams homered to win the Red Sox' 1-0 game at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Outfielder Bob Will continued his heavy hitting for the Cubs at Mesa. He tripled for two runs, bringing his three-game total to seven. The Cubs beat each other 7-4.

M.V. Boys Cagers Finish Season On Winning Note

Mill Valley Boys Club this week completed a highly-successful basketball season with a 34-32 overtime victory over Hill School of Novato. Lon Gallagher's 17 points paced the winners.

Mill Valley's over-all season record was 28 victories and 12 losses.

Triandos Nixes Series In Havana

MIAMI — Catcher Gus Triandos says he is "not volunteering" to play three exhibition baseball games in Havana at the end of the month.

Triandos said Cuban Premier Fidel Castro urges Americans to visit the Caribbean island, "then the next minute he's turned around blasting our country."

"I've been to Havana. I played winter ball there once. So it's no sight-seeing trip for me. I'm not showing up at the plane."

The Orioles are scheduled to play the Cincinnati Reds in Havana March 28-30. Cincinnati, which has a farm club in Havana, is anxious to go through with original plans.

Triandos is a San Franciscan.

250,000 Hail Carol Heiss In N.Y. Fete

NEW YORK (UPI) — Olympic Figure Skating Champion Carol Heiss got a warm welcome on a cold day from 250,000 New Yorkers yesterday in a ticker tape parade up lower Broadway.

"I never expected anything like this," said the blonde, 20-year-old winner of five straight world titles and four straight national titles. "It was a complete surprise and I will never forget it."

She wept softly during the ceremony at city hall when Mayor Rober F. Wagner gave her a medalion inscribed: "Presented to Carol Heiss, figure-skater extraordinary, inspiration to our youth, admired daughter of New York."

Wagner declared it "Olympic Day" in New York, and Carol ended her homecoming by joining the New York Olympic Committee and city officials at a performance of "Can-Can," and then attending a supper ball at the Astor.

In another car rode her father, Edward, her sister, Nancy, 18, and her brother, Bruce, 16.

"I only wish my mother, who died four years ago, could be here today to see her dreams come true," Carol said during the ceremonies.

Golden Glovers Show Skill, But No Power

CHICAGO — Chicago's Golden Gloves squad will take boxing skill rather than kayo power against New York's best amateurs in the intercity bouts in Madison Square Garden March 21.

There was not a knockout last night in the finals of the 33rd Tournament of Champions witnessed by 11,159 in Chicago Stadium and viewed, in part, by a national television audience.

However, paced by new heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, a real fancy dan, and two perpetual-motion little scrappers in Greek twins, Pete and Nick Spanakos, the Chicago squad is clever and quick.

Clay, 18, of Louisville, Ky., used a superb footwork and quick hands to dethrone defending champion Jimmy Jones, 19, of Gary, Ind.

The Clay-Jones three-rounder was one of four bouts displayed on national TV. In the other televised matches, Jefferson Davis, 1959 runnerup, reached the top in the 175-pound division; Ferd Hernandez of Omaha, captured the 147-pound crown; and Chicago's Brian O'Shea became 135-pound titlist.

The Spanakos brothers attend the College of Idaho and represented Hollywood, Calif.

Pete won the 118-pound crown over Darrell Shavanaux, 17, Denver. Brother Nick out-belted Tom O'Shea, Chicago for the 126-pound title.

Davis defeated Cincinnati's Billy Joiner for the 175-pound championship.

Brian O'Shea, a brother of Tom, outpointed Reggie Davis of Fort Worth for the lightweight title.

Caribbean Net Tourney

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Don Kierbow of Los Angeles gained the quarter-finals of the Caribbean Tennis Tournament yesterday without the loss of a set.

Johnson, President Of A's, Dies At 53

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Arnold Johnson, hard-driving business tycoon who moved the Athletics baseball club from Philadelphia to Kansas City and made it a financial success, died today.

The 53-year-old club president suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while driving yesterday after watching an intra-squad game at the Athletics' spring training camp.

His wife, Carman, was with him when he died at 1:45 a.m. at Good Samaritan Hospital. She was placed under sedation.

A brother, Earl Johnson, who flew down from Chicago, said practice at the Athletics' camp would be called off today.

Funeral plans are indefinite, although the body will be returned to Chicago, his home, for burial.

Johnson, who had no previous experience before buying the financially ailing Philadelphia Athletics from Connie Mack and his associates five years ago, was active in the management of the club.

His many player trades, particularly with the New York Yankees, made him a controversial figure in the American League.

To such criticism, Johnson replied:

"We started with a second division baseball club and little in the way of a farm system to develop our players. We can't stand still. We have to try to improve our baseball club and sometimes we may make mistakes. But no one can say we haven't tried."

Johnson had numerous business interests. He was president of Arnold Johnson Corp., chairman of the board of five companies and a member of the board of directors of 15 or 20 others.

Despite his great business interests, he spent much of the time during the season with his club in Kansas City, on the road, and during spring training.

Johnson got into major league baseball when he found himself owning a ball park he couldn't sell. In 1954, he acquired the Blues' stadium in Kansas City, a minor part of a deal under which he had acquired the Yankee Stadium in New York in a 6½ million dollar purchase.

He tried to sell the Blues' stadium but there were no takers.

Ernie Mehl, sports editor of the Kansas City Star, reminded him the Braves had moved from Boston to Milwaukee to record-breaking attendance and receipts and the Orioles were doing well after their switch from St. Louis to Baltimore.

Mehl asked: "Why don't you buy a major league franchise and bring it to Kansas City?"

Johnson said, "I think I will."

Surviving besides the widow and brother are a daughter, Wendy Alexis Johnson, and a son, Jeffrey Johnson of Chicago.

White Sox Pose For TV Cameras

SARASOTA, Fla. — The Chicago White Sox went through a couple of rounds of batting practice yesterday but devoted most of their time posing for television cameras. A TV chain is developing a 90-minute baseball spectacular featuring the Sox and their victorious 1959 World Series opponents, the Los Angeles Dodgers.

SANTA ROSA MEETING

Sportsmen Make Demands Of Water Bonds Issue

Sportsmen's Council of the Redwood Empire has joined with other California conservation organizations in demanding guarantees for fish and wildlife in the $2,750,000,000 water bond issue which will appear on the November ballot.

Meeting this week in Santa Rosa, the SCRE—which represents sportsmen's organizations in Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties—voted to oppose the bond issue "unless absolute guarantees are given that fish, game and recreational facilities are constructed on a non-reimbursable cost basis concurrent with project construction."

The action followed a report by SCRE President Ray Welsh of Fort Bragg, who also is a member of the California Wildlife Federation water committee, that it has been impossible for sportsmen to get the necessary assurances from the state and that "fish and game resources are not protected in the measure."

The group also heard a report from L. M. (Jack) Mitchell of Potter Valley on formation of a special SCRE committee which will work for increased use of controlled strip brush burning as a tool of range and wildlife management. The new committee will examine existing policies and regulations on brush burning in the North Coast area and recommend means of carrying out additional burning for the improvement of wildlife habitat and to reduce wild fires, Mitchell said.

On hunting regulations, the SCRE endorsed a coastal deer season opening Aug. 6 and closing Sept. 11 and an inland season opening Sept. 24 and closing Oct. 30. Continuation of the 16-day pheasant season also was supported.

On ducks, the council voted to ask its federal legislators "to insist that the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service abide by the flyway concept in establishing waterfowl regulations for California and other states of the Pacific Flyway and that consideration only be given to population and biological factors affecting the flyway." A return to duck shooting hours from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset also was asked.

Marin Rod and Gun Club delegates to the meeting were Mike Abramson, Dr. Gail Adams, Peter Bertoni, Gordon Dixon and G. Paul Jones.

HOCKEY

Olympic Star In Another Top Effort

NEW YORK (AP)—Any myths about the goal-tending abilities of Olympic star Jack McCartan are rapidly being dispelled and some expert opinions are taking their place.

McCartan was goalie on Uncle Sam's Olympic champion hockey team and a week later was in the nets for the New York Rangers in the National Hockey League. He won his first game last Sunday, 3-1 over Detroit.

"I like the way he handles himself," goalie Glenn Hall of the Chicago Black Hawks said last night after McCartan held the Hawks to a 1-1 tie in his second game with the Rangers.

"I particularly like the way he uses his right skate to block shots. That shows some class," Hall added.

McCartan, who had 33 saves against Detroit, came up with 26 last night, including four spectacular ones against Bobby Hull, the NHL's leading scorer.

McCartan, 24 and a St. Paul, Minn., native, is on leave from the Army to try his hand at big-time hockey.

The only Chicago goal was one that rolled under his skate when he failed to clear the puck promptly after a Chicago drive.

What does McCartan think of it all after two games?

"Things were just the same as the other night," he said. "Those guys in front of me still made it easy with the way they played."

Basketball Night Slated In Fairfax Next Wednesday

St. Rita's Parish in Fairfax will hold its annual Father-Son Basketball Night next Wednesday, 8 o'clock, at St. Rita's Hall, it was announced today.

Guest speaker will be Chester Carlisle, superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District and former University of California basketball All-American. Former Cal Coach Nibs Price named Carlisle as one of the five all-time stars of the university.

Other guests will be the Reverends Albert Duffy and Joseph Sullivan and three coaches of St. Rita's CYO teams—Mike Vanni, Bill Kessel and Dick Morin.

Movies will be shown and refreshments served. All St. Rita's Parish fathers and their sons are urged to attend the event.

New Arm For Iron Mike
MIAMI (AP)—Iron Mike, the pitching machine which twirled several Baltimore Orioles intrasquad game this week, broke down during batting practice yesterday. Mike bounced back quickly when he was fitted with a new arm costing $36.83.

MARIN ROD-GUN CLUB EXTRAVAGANZA

Sports, Boat Show Set Next Week

"Marin Rod and Gun Club's Sports, Boats and Travel show is literally bursting at its seams" was the statement today of Pete Bertoni, president of the conservation group.

Bertoni said so many exhibitors have been clamoring for space that a huge tent had to be erected to take care of the overflow.

The tent area will spread across the rear of the Bermuda Palms Motel where the show is to be held March 18, 19, 20.

The tent will be primarily devoted to boat exhibitions ranging from eight-foot punts to cruisers. Boatmen, present, past and future will enjoy this exhibit especially as it will contain just about everything any weekend mariner ever dreamed of owning.

The motor exhibits will be fabulous with motors ranging from 1½ horsepower trollers to big 75 horsepower brutes capable of propelling heavy craft at thrilling speeds and able to tow a number of water skiers simultaneously.

Incidentally, some of the latest developments in water skiing equipment will be displayed.

This year the Marin show will be bigger and better than ever with just plain more of everything.

For example, camping equipment. Marin probably has as many campers in proportion to its population as any county in the state. The campers will delight in the exhibits pertaining to their hobby, including the latest in camp refrigerators, stoves, cooking utensils, lanterns, packboards, sleeping bags and hundreds of other items, to say nothing of tents, and more tents.

There are things of interest for the camper who carries everything on his back to the families who load down the station wagon.

The fisherman is the mainstay of all outdoorsmen and he is not neglected by Marin's great sport show. The spinning reel exhibits alone will hold the angler entranced for hours. The spin fishing rods, reels and lines alone would be worth the trip, to say nothing of the myriads of lures.

There will be plenty for the old fashioned dry-fly man at the booth of Redwood Sports Shop of San Rafael.

Representatives of all of the major tackle manufacturers will be only too glad to talk angling.

The riflemen will not be neglected either with guns, ammunition and reloading all a part of the show. There will also be things of interest to the smoothbore shooter and even TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Allie Brandt, who rolled the American Bowling Congress all-time record of 886 in 1939, will be the featured attraction tonight as he leads his Lockport (N.Y.) Felt team into action.

Although he has never won an ABC title, Brandt has averaged 189 in 29 tournaments.

An unheralded Canton, Ohio, quintet took over first place in the open division last night. The Four Winds Restaurant No. 2 team rolled games of 1009, 1000 and 930 for a 2939 total.

WAIT TILL NEXT TRIP

'Space Ship Rider' Given Tough Cross-Examination

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON
Reinhold O. Schmidt, a Bakersfield grain buyer who says he has pals from Saturn, took more than 150 Marinites on a verbal tour with them last night.

The only trouble was that a sizable contingent of the younger generation — from about fifth grade through high school — refused to go along. They kept asking those darn smart-alecky scientific questions.

Schmidt's appearance at the initial meeting of Understanding Unit 31 ("for the better understanding of the people of this earth and not of this earth") packed the house at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

The unlettered grain buyer has traveled a long way since that day in 1957 when he burst into the police station at Kearney, Neb., to tell of being taken aboard a 100-by-40-foot space ship parked in the dry bed of the Platte River by two men who spoke English with a German accent. There were four more people inside the space ship, he said — two of them women.

He said his trips in that same space ship since, with those same six persons, who later identified themselves as people from Saturn, have taken him to:

1. The Arctic Circle, where the ship, operating as a submarine, took him to the floor of the ocean so he could see underwater "missile bases" built by the Russians. (He also saw prehistoric animals being thawed out of the ice; but that was all right—on a later visit they were freezing up again.)

2. Egypt, where one of his Saturnian guides unlocked a secret room of a pyramid that had never been entered in 1,960 years and Schmidt copied a lengthy message from a plaque printed in "the American language" (one of 32 plaques printed in different languages). Also inside the secret pyramid room was a 60-foot space ship, he declared, and inside the space ship—also sealed up for 1,960 years—were the cross on which Christ died and Jesus' sandals and robe. Jesus, his guides told him, "ascended to heaven or to another planet" in that space ship (something less than 1,960 years ago if the Julian calendar errs only four years on the birth of Christ, as calendar experts claim).

3. A 4,000-foot-long "mother ship" which was "very high up over Montana," for a return trip to the Arctic to show him the "Russian missile bases had been destroyed"—by the U.S. Navy. He said he just returned from that trip on Feb. 11.

But all this was merely a warmup. On his next trip, the Saturnians have promised to take him on a tour of the planets.

Moreover, they've promised to provide him with films so he can take all the pictures he wants to bring back and prove where he's been. (Our own films won't work, he explained, because the space ship sets up a "magnetic field" which exposes them: He tried it. And so far, he hasn't been allowed to bring back any souvenirs.)

The Saturnians look just like you and me, said Schmidt—you couldn't pick them out in a crowd. And they dress as we do—at least on their visits to our planet.

Schmidt went into quite a few details for about an hour. But then he opened the meeting for questions from the floor. And the kids were wicked.

A high school youth piped up: "Saturn happens to be about minus 240 degrees. Wouldn't those people kind of fry on this earth at plus 70 degrees?" Schmidt shrugged. They didn't, he said.

Another teen-age boy was mighty interested in those 32 tablets in the pyramid, one of them in English. There wasn't any English language 1,960 years ago, he pointed out.

Schmidt couldn't explain that, either.

Schmidt said the space ship flew from Bakersfield to the Arctic in one hour and 20 minutes, with stops in Alaska and Greenland en route "and they told me they were just taking it kind of slow."

Someone wanted to know whether the ship could exceed the speed of light.

"I don't know what the speed of light is," said Schmidt. "They told me it took them about 11 hours to come the 73 million miles from Saturn." (Astronomers figure the distance from the earth to Saturn in a direct line, if both are in the same relation to the sun, at 794 million miles.)

"What's the real name of their planet?" asked another teen-ager.

"They told me Saturn," replied Schmidt.

Said the youth, disappointed, "They got that from us."

And then there was a young boy—about a fifth grader—who kept insisting that Schmidt should have brought some souvenir out of that secret room in the pyramid. He brought it up repeatedly. Finally Schmidt declared.

"You couldn't get nothing out of that pyramid. You wouldn't get it past the guards."

It was all very rough on the believers.

Also a bit rough on them was a piece of paper that Schmidt waved and said was "documentary proof from the Navy" of his story about the Russian missile launchers on the Arctic ocean floor. He didn't read it. But copies of it went with a book of his adventures that he had on sale.

Those who bought the book found the "documentary proof" was a reprint of a newspaper column by Robert S. Allen, published in February, 1959, which claimed the Russians had installed radioactive direction finders (not missile bases) of the U.S. and Canadian coasts (not in the Arctic) to guide submarine-fired missiles toward possible targets. It quoted no source. But a notation on it said it had been "posted on U.S. Navy bulletin board at Long Beach, Calif."

Anyhow, the take was quite good when some member of Understanding No. 31 passed the hat. And Mrs. Mary L. McAlpine of Fairfax, temporary president of the unit, reported 14 members signed up after the meeting and 24 more asked to be put on the mailing list.

Shelter Cove Rezoning Bid Turned Down

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night voted unanimously not to rezone a portion of Shelter Cove, the water area east of Bridgeway, between Valley and Richardson streets, for yacht harbor use.

A commission subcommittee reported at last night's meeting it was against the rezoning. It was also brought out that a mayor's committee had found recently that the area was not feasible for a yacht harbor. Members of the committee were Shirley Morgan, Herbert Madden, Ernest Nunes and Councilman John E. Koenig Jr.

Commissioner Robert E. McCabe said he was not in favor of rezoning because "I have a feeling that the attempt is to frankly block off the Benson development. I don't want to be a party to have a specific rezoning against one property owner." (Walter Benson, representing Views Land Co., has asked for a use permit to build two apartments at the cove over the water.)

Leonard Bjorklund, an attorney representing two clients in the cove area, favored the rezoning and said he believed each of the people on the mayor's committee had an interest to protect.

Substantial Agreement Reached On Water Pact

Officials of the North Marin Water District and Sonoma County Flood Control District reached "substantial agreement" in Santa Rosa yesterday on a contract to bring Russian River water to North Marin. Jerome B. Gilbert, the water district's manager, reported.

"One of the differences we had was ironed out, and the next step is to re-draft the contract," Gilbert said. Both sides will work on the re-draft, and then another meeting will be held, he added.

The contract must be ready

Fountain Motif To Be Featured At Women's Club Fashion Show

Keyed to the quicksilver essence of dancing, sparkling water will be the mercurial "Fountain of Fashion," showing to be presented by the Marin Catholic High School Women's Club at the high school auditorium on Thursday evening, March 17.

Colored lighting will work magic on the tiered "living fountain" and the garden columnade on the stage. Subtlety and beauty will blend great line in swags, braided in muted tones of slate blue, gray and nuances of green, all delicately sprayed with silver for iridescence. Hundreds of clusters of pale green grapes will hold the silvery draping.

Tall bubbling centerpieces will develop the "fountain" motif, their four-foot height touched with floral accent. Seating in the auditorium will be in fan-shaped theater fashion, the theatrical note being developed in the lobby also with glittering posters and the extension of a canopy outdoors where a liveried doorman will greet the arrivals.

Hundreds of reservations already have been received. Reservations can be sent to Mrs. Walter Silva, 17 Rose Court, Sausalito.

Fashions For Spring Afternoon Modeled By AAUW At Lunch

On any "Afternoon in Spring," you'll find the prettiest women of all ages wearing dresses by Eleanor Green of California. Tuesday afternoon at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon was no exception.

Promenading in the feminine, flattering creations by Eleanor Green that captivate men (and women) both price wise and fashionwise were eight attractive members of the American Association of University Women honored by Fashion Focus as ambassadors of education good will.

Very soon on an April afternoon in Spring, the magnificent new AAUW Educational Center in Washington will open to become the international headquarters of the AAUW whose fellowship grants to graduate women students enable them to work for their doctorate in outstanding universities and colleges at home and abroad.

As an ambassador of fashion good will at home and abroad, Miss Green is once again proved why she has no peer. From Marin to Memphis and back again, women are Eleanor Green devotees because she combines beautiful fabrics with styles that accent the assets and limit the liabilities, each more of an investment in excellent taste than in money.

An Eleanor Green design never punches a seasonal time clock but ticks through many years as the brightest face in a wardrobe.

Springs' happiest companions, beautiful jewelry and conversation causing hats were added by Sara Campbell to compliment each Eleanor Green dress for afternoon or evening.

From the tip of her head coiffured creatively by a San Rafael coiffure studio right down to the toe of her pretty foot in appealing spring shoes from a San Rafael salon, each AAUW model was ready for an "Afternoon in Spring."

"Symphony Day," Mrs. Joseph Hickerson townish and trim in two piece black and white silk check, the sheath scooped to arrive later at cocktail sash the fitted jacket sashed at the dropped rollover collar.

"Lunch at the Club" Mrs.

George Error arriving in a saucy blue and white silk shirt-maker; the sleeves, wonderful collar and deep V, favorite Eleanor Green touches.

"City Shopper," Mrs. Donald Baird showing the virtues of a slim, trim sheath of textured beige and white silk, an added collar of white pique for emphasis.

"Town by Six," a twosome in shocking pink shantung; a full skirted scooped neck dinner dress chaperoned by a dolman sleeved waist-tied matching jacket and Mrs. Donald Holt.

"Country Cocktails," in sky blue, sea green silk print, the high bodice, deep V and slim sheath accented by Mrs. James Kearney.

Bert LeBeck Honored At Drake High

At a recent pot luck dinner meeting of the Sir Francis Drake High School P-TA held in the girl's gymnasium at the school, Bert LeBeck was given the Honorary Life Membership award for his outstanding service to the youth of the community by the scholarship chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Dunn.

LeBeck has been active in scouting for eight years serving as committee chairman for both the cubs and scouts.

Today is Thursday, March 10, the 70th day of the year, with 296 more days in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1775, Daniel Boone and a company of frontiersmen were hired by the Transylvania Co. to cut a road through the wilderness to the Kentucky River.

In 1861, the U.S. government issued the first paper money, available in notes valued at 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 500 and 1,000 dollars.

In 1876, Alexander Graham Bell transmitted the first clear telephone message in Boston: "Come here, Watson, I want you."

In 1942, Gen. Joseph Stilwell was appointed chief of staff of the allied armies in the Chinese theater of operation in World War II.

A thought for today: French essayist Michel De Montaigne said: "Whoever would be cured of ignorance must first confess it."

Don't Give Up On Young Stinkers; They Often Turn Out Successful

Is your boy a stinker at school? Does he get in his teacher's hair? I hope not.

But if he does, take heart. Most stinkers turn out well. They have an extra push which pays off later in life.

Here are some stinkers I helped through school:

"Bob" was an imaginative pest. He jimmied the bells at school, so classes let out at odd times. He changed some signs and demoralized the cafeteria. He locked the wastebaskets in a closet, and threw away the key. He finally got through school. A college admitted him reluctantly. Then he began to study. He graduated with honors.

Now he's using his imagination on some space research projects. Maybe he'll lead us to Mars. He has the ability.

"Helen" specialized in letters and notes. She posted many humorous announcements on bulletin boards. She once sent a series of mash notes to a maiden lady she disliked. She had her believing there was an unknown admirer in her life. Helen had too much of a sense of humor, and a way with words.

Where is she now? On the editorial staff of one of our national magazines — big job, big success.

"George" was the perfect example of the stinker. He fought everybody. He was kicked out of high school. He got a job as a clerk. He became interested in merchandising. Now he is head of a department store. He's found a way to reduce the cost of selling clothes. I think he'll be a millionaire.

I am not excusing the bad things Bob, Helen and George did, not for a minute. But I do want to point out that many young stinkers have real ability.

Take heart, folks, take heart.

New Realty Office Open At Novato

Want to get away from it all and retire to a little dairy farm in Vermont? (Only $5,500 for 54 acres and a nine-room house).

Maybe you'd like seven acres and a six-room bungalow in Florida — for $3,900. (Needs paint and plumbing).

Like to run a plush resort motel in Arizona — $294,000? Or maybe you long for a small ranch in a sunny California community — $12,000, with a view of the mountains and near the ocean.

These dream-inspiring possibilities are all listed in a 146-page catalog published by a nationwide real estate firm that has opened an office in Novato — its second in Marin County.

The firm is Strout Realty, Managers of the Novato branch are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Studdard of 5 Rudnick Avenue, Novato.

The company has an office in Forest Knolls and will open another branch soon in San Rafael, Mrs. Studdard said.

The Novato office will handle properties as far north as Petaluma and south to Los Ranchitos. It is open seven days a week.

Strout, which maintains it is the world's largest real estate firm, publishes a catalog three times a year listing properties available from coast-to-coast.

Drinks Aboard Airlines Controversy Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—A martini at 35,000 feet is more than a cocktail. It's a controversy.

Although a drink or two before dinner has become an accepted part of air travel, many people responsible for air safety don't like it.

Many pilots and stewards resist liquor threats the safety of an airliner. Their bosses and the Federal Aviation Agency defend the airborne cocktail on the ground that there is no evidence to condemn it.

For more than five years the Airline Pilots Assn. and the Air Line Stewards and Stewardesses Assn. have urged Congress to ban drinking on airplanes. Bills have passed the House but never got by the Senate.

Last July James T. Pyle, deputy administrator of FAA, told the House commerce subcommittee that a survey had revealed no specific drinking incidents which directly threatened an airliner's safety.

There were some incidents which were potentially hazardous, he conceded. But in almost every case, said Pyle, these were caused by passengers who had been drinking before boarding the plane or had brought their liquor with them.

But the FAA feels it has regulated the "bottle sucker" into sobriety with new rules — the first governing drinking aloft — which take effect today.

1. Require airlines to refuse to serve liquor to anyone who appears intoxicated.

2. Require a passenger bringing his own bottle aboard to turn it over to the stewardess who will pour his drinks and decide when he has had enough.

If a passenger is caught tipping and refuses to surrender his supply, the stewardess need only warn him of the FAA regulation and take his name. The FAA will prosecute and fine the offender up to $1,000.

The regulations have been received without enthusiasm. "A passenger could sue me for slander if I told him he couldn't have any more to drink because he appeared intoxicated," says a TWA purser.

"We don't have time to serve someone from his own bottle," says an American Airlines stewardess.

"The only real solution to the liquor problem aboard planes," says a spokesman for the pilots' union, "is to abolish liquor in flight, as we have long advocated."

By an agreement reached in 1956, domestic airlines limit each passenger to two 1.6 ounce drinks. There is no limit on international flights.

"You don't know what a drunk is going to do," says Dan Savage, another purser. "I have had drunks that started fires with smoldering cigarettes, drunks that attempted to open doors and windows."

Defenders of the winged cocktail say such incidents are infrequent. They argue that an air crash has never been traced to a drinking passenger, that competition requires airlines to serve liquor, the public demands it, and prohibition just wouldn't work anyway.

"If everyone would agree, I would be the first to say let's eliminate it," says Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, board chairman of Eastern Airlines.

"We finally had to begin serving liquor because our prime competitor, National, had been serving it for more than a year," says William L. Morrisette Jr., Eastern's vice president of sales and traffic.

"There were some passengers who left us simply because they could buy liquor on other lines."

Not all crew members condemn liquor service. Stewardess Jane Garv of Miami, who works for Eastern, says: "I would rather serve liquor than anything else. You ask a passenger, 'Would you like a drink?' And it makes him so happy. He's your friend for the rest of the trip."

Petri Repaired, Goes Back To Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Angelo Petri, almost wrecked a month ago by a Pacific gale, headed back to sea today.

The world's largest wine tanker carried its full cargo—almost two million gallons of wine, vegetable oil and fuel. The 21,700-ton vessel was almost beached off San Francisco last month when a storm with huge waves washed out its electrical system and tore away the rudder.

But four tugs and a Coast Guard cutter worked for 46 hours to bring the Petri back into port for repairs.

LEARNING TO HOLD A NEW BABY

Learning the proper way to hold a new baby are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brauer, assisted by Mrs. Zudora Cass (left) and Miss Genevieve Sheppard (right). The Brauers are enrolled in an American Red Cross class, given

Choir To Sing Monthly On Station KTIM

A 25-voice capella choir will be heard once a month on radio station KTIM's "Sunday Concert" beginning Sunday, manager Hugh Turner announced today.

The broadcast, will be the first 1960 concert and the initial radio performance by the Winifred Baker A Capella Choir. The choir is a newly formed group of 25 voices selected from the Winifred Baker Chorale of the Dominican College adult evening department.

The choir, which gave its first concerts during the Christmas season in San Rafael and Sausalito, will sing at San Francisco's Palace of the Legion of Honor March 27 with organist Ludwig Altman.

The KTIM concert begins at 1:30 p.m.

Lima, the capital of Peru, frequently has dense fogs which make it seem damp. In contrast, there is little heavy rainfall.

Tax Forms Available At Offices Of Bank

Federal and state income tax forms are available at all offices of the First National Bank in San Rafael.

The bank's Marin offices are located at Fourth and B streets, San Rafael; Grant and Machin, Novato; the Boardwalk, Belvedere; the Kent Woodlands Shopping Center; the Corte Madera Shopping Center; 525 Miller avenue, Mill Valley, and 120 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, San Anselmo.

The cornerstone of the White House was laid in 1792.

'Plasma Bowl' Players To Give Blood

Twenty-five Hamilton Air Force Base football players — participants in the annual 4th Air Force Plasma Bowl game last Friday—will donate a pint of blood each to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Francisco at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The game between non-commissioned officers and airmen was won by the airmen — for the first time in three years—22-0. In previous years the losers donated blood, but this year both sides decided to contribute to the blood bank.

The plasma bowl queen, A/3c Betty Bisbee, 19, also will be at the blood bank. The game officials, M/Sgt. Fred Cox, Charles Hatchell and Walter Baird also volunteered to give blood.

David Ratliff, airman quartermaster, received an engraved football as the game's outstanding player.

Marin College Teams Visit High Schools

College of Marin's student executive council is sending student teams to four Marin high schools to tell seniors what they can expect from a junior college.

Among the subjects covered are the role of the junior college, its academic and transfer functions, the types of students it serves and the transition from high school to college.

First visit, to Sir Francis Drake High School, was made Monday. Subsequent visits will be made Tuesday to San Rafael High School, next Thursday to Tamalpais High and March 24 to Novato High.

College of Marin aptitude tests will be given by dean of men Irwin P. Diamond next Monday at Drake High, March 22 at San Rafael High, March 24 at Tamalpais High and March 31 at Novato High.

Students serving on the visiting teams are Martha Collins, Gary Antolini, Judy Werbelow, Sue Schrager, Hampton Hoge, Sonny Nestlehut, Lois Barkowska and Linda Pedrazzini.

SHAPE means Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe.

SIXTH GRADERS STUDY INDIA—Helen Kluchnik's sixth grade class at Bel Aire School has been making a three-week study of India and, on a field trip, visited an Indian restaurant in San Francisco.

Hermann Singh, restaurant owner, is at left, Miss Kluchnik at right and in the center (rear) is Miss Wali Husain Khan, an Indian student visiting San Francisco.

Play To Climax Class Study Program On India

The sixth graders of Bel Aire School will present the play "Aladdin's Lamp" at 1:15 p. m. on March 23, as culmination of a study program on India.

Their teacher, Helen Kluchnik, said the Aladdin story "is related to Indian folklore."

The class has held a debate,

Miss Kluchnik said, on India's population problem and what can be done about it.

On a recent San Francisco field trip, the class had a curry luncheon at the Taj of India restaurant in San Francisco. Miss Wali Husain Khan, an Indian visiting San Francisco from Oregon where she is studying, spoke to the class on Indian customs.

Hermann Singh, the restaurant owner, illustrated how a turban is tied and his wife demonstrated how the Indian dress, the sari, is worn. An Indian film, "Republic Day," was shown.

Cows Still Ahead

RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI)—It's the same old story in Vermont.

David P. Newton, assistant Rutland County extension service agent, said latest estimates show Vermont's human population at 372,000 while the cow population numbers 405,000.

Show To Feature Styles For Well-Dressed Simians

Ever wonder what the well-dressed monkey wears?

Scooter's Pet Shop in Novato is going to find out with a simian fashion contest now under way.

Anyone with imagination —

Report Given Rural Teachers

George Stratton, chairman of the rural teachers unification committee, presented an exploratory report to the Marin Rural Teachers Assn. Tuesday night at Stinson Beach which outlined the area that would be encompassed if the rural area should form a school district.

The next meeting of the unification committee will be held in two weeks, said Richard Miller, principal of the Bolinas School.

The rural teachers will cast written ballots before tomorrow to voice their recommendation on the unification of dues at the next California Teachers Assn. meeting.

the wilder the better—can enter the contest, whether or not he is a monkey-owner, said Mrs. Bettie Seiler, pet shop owner.

Simian clothes can't be bought, as dog outfits can, and owners of monkeys or apes must make their own clothes for their pets, she explained.

Contest entrants may make their own patterns. Or get them free at Scooter's. Any type of costume can be designed—Indian, cowboy or Robin Hood, for example—Mrs. Seiler said.

Scooter, her pet monkey, will model the outfits as they are entered in the contest, and will have his own clothes on display to spur contestants' imaginations. Officers of the Marin County Humane Society will be judges. Merchandise and other prizes will be awarded.

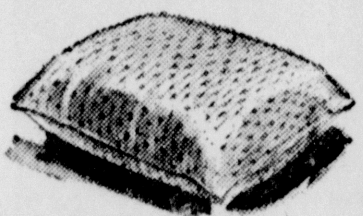

All entries must be in by April 30. Winning fashions will be displayed in a pet fashion show in May.

Scooter's moved into its new location at 1121 Grant avenue last Friday.
